RUSSIA MUST ACT QUICKLY

British Note Says North Sea Incident "Brooks No Delay."

KING IS AROUSED

In Telegram to Mayor of Hull He Refers to the "Unwarrantable Action."

CZAR'S AMBASSADOR MOBBED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Great Britain today sent a long and urgent note to the Russian government, officially detailing the circumstances of the amazing and unexplained attack by the Russian second Pacific squadron during the night of October 21 on British fishing boats in the North sea. It is officially stated from the foreign office that the note contains the significant announcement that the "situation is one which in the opinion of his majesty's government does not brook delay."

Everywhere there is evidence of the very positive opinion that this is no time for the usual diplomatic dilly-dallying, and that there must be no delay and no limit set by Russia to her apology or the extent of compensation for sufferers by what King Edward himself terms "the unwarrantable action" of the Baltic squadron commanders.

King Wires Sympathy.

"Buckingham Palace, October 24, 1904.

"To His Worship, the Mayor of Hull:

"The king commands me to say that he has heard with profound sorrow of the unwarrantable action which has been committed against the North sea fishing fleet, and asks you to express the deepest sympathy of the queen and his majesty with the families of those who have suffered from this lamentable occurrence.

(Signed) "KNOLLYS."

The mayor of Hull had previously telegraphed Premier Balfour as follows:

"The greatest indignation prevails here at the unprecedented and wanton attack on the Hull fishing fleet by Russian warships, resulting in the loss of valuable lives. We appeal to the government to take the speediest and strongest measures to ensure full redress and complete security against further Russian outrages."

Premier Balfour in reply wired:

"Your telegram received. You may have full confidence in the government's action."

King Edward has sent to the mayor of Hull $1,000 as his donation for the families of the victims.

Russian Ambassador Mobbed.

The deep resentment of the whole British public is reflected by an incident at the Victoria station tonight on the arrival of Count Benckendorff, the Russian ambassador, who returned to London from celebrating his silver wedding with his wife's relatives in Silesia. He barely escaped assault from a crowd at the station, which followed him almost into the embassy. Fortunately for the issue of peace or war nothing resulted, yet throughout the night a special force of police was compelled to guard the Russian embassy.

Count Benckendorff has been always regarded in official circles here as a friend of peace, and he was as much opposed as was Count Lamsdorff to the Russo-Japanese war. Indeed, he is almost an Anglophile in sentiment. There is no doubt that Count Benckendorff was deeply hurt by tonight's demonstration.

After escaping from the hostile crowd that met him at the station, he drove at a gallop to the embassy. Half a dozen rowdies followed, but the ambassador arrived unharmed. His noisy pursuers encountered a cordon of police that had been hurriedly dispatched to guard the city embassy. After singing "Rule Britannia" the disturbers dispersed, no arrests being made, but the police continued to guard the embassy as if it were a British fortress.

Sends Cipher Letter Home.

With such vigilance did they carry out their task that when Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky, a cousin of the new Russian minister of the interior and second secretary of the embassy, arrived, he had hard work getting in. Count Benckendorff had telephoned him to come to the embassy to write a long cipher message to St. Petersburg, describing tonight's hostile demonstration. In reply to a request for a statement, the ambassador sent word that he could say nothing, but it was gathered that he had sent a dispatch to St. Petersburg which may add to the existing delicacy of the situation.

Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky said:

"The attack on the trawlers was obviously either an act of war or a great mistake. No sensible man can now think it was an act of war, and therefore it was a mistake; and when you have made a mistake all you can do is to apologize and pay for it. Neither country concerned wants to go to war with the other. It is annoying to our diplomatic relations with Great Britain, but it is quite different from the sinking of the Maine. Incidental mistakes, however much they may be deplored, do not create wars between great powers unless those powers have some ulterior reason for going to war. Neither the trawler nor tonight's affair is likely to produce a clash between two powers who have every reason, from a selfish point of view, to preserve peace between themselves."

Russian Charge Condoles.

There is no attempt anywhere among men of responsibility to magnify the North sea occurrence into a deliberate act of war, but in view of the present inability to find an explanation, there is being poured upon the heads of the officers of the squadron a flood of invective and insinuation, though incompetence first, and thereafter complete panic is the most generally accepted explanation.

Thus far no official word has been received from St. Petersburg as to the attitude of the Russian government, but the Russian charge d'affaires, who called

USED TRAWLERS FOR A CLOAK

Japanese Are Alleged to Have Used Torpedo Boats Under Cover.

EXPLAINS RUSSIAN ATTACK

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Oct. 24.—Were there really Japanese torpedo boats using the British trawling fleet in the North sea as a cloak for an attack on the Russian Baltic squadron? That such was the case is asserted here in circles most friendly to Russia. The information is believed to come from officers of the Russian war vessels which have stopped at Cherbourg, and the assertion is confidently made in some quarters that when the full truth of the North sea incident becomes known that the Russians will appear in an altogether different and a much more favorable light.

A gentleman of pro-Russian sympathies, who is in a position to get information from the Russian standpoint in advance of the general public, said today:

"I am informed that there actually were Japanese torpedo boats, secured in America, in or about the section of the North sea at the time of the passage of the Baltic squadron, that at least one of these Japanese boats was seen by the Russians, and it was this which drew their fire. The Russian admiral, so my information goes, had been informed of the presence of the Japanese vessels and had been given descriptions of them so that they could be recognized without difficulty."

FAIR SHOWING MADE IN PITTSBURGH DEATH RATE

Census Bureau Presents Vital Statistics of Pennsylvania Cities.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Bulletin No. 15 of the census bureau, entitled "A Discussion of the Vital Statistics of the Twelfth Census," contains some interesting figures relating to the health of the larger cities of the country. The healthiest city in 1900 was St. Joseph, Mo., with a death rate to 1,000 population of 9.1. Portland, Ore., was a close second with a rate of 9.5 to 1,000.

The unhealthiest cities, according to this bulletin, were in the south. Charleston, S. C., having a death rate of 37.5 and Savannah, Ga., following close with a rate of 24.3.

Pittsburgh's death rate for that year was very fair, being 20 to 1,000, about the average. The rate for Allegheny was 18.4; Altoona, 10.3; Erie, 15.2; Harrisburg, 17.8; Johnstown, 19.8; McKeesport, 17.3; New Castle, 15.4; Philadelphia, 21.2; Scranton, 20.7; Canton, O., 15.3; Youngstown, O., 16.6; Wheeling, W. Va., 14.2.

In the death rate from typhoid fever, Pittsburgh led the entire country with a rate of 145.5 to 100,000 population, with the exception of New Castle, Pa., which had a rate of 147.1. With all the thousands of typhoid cases, Philadelphia had a very low death rate from this cause, it being 37.2 to 100,000. Allegheny's death rate from typhoid in that year was large, being 161.9. With the exception of typhoid, both Pittsburgh and Allegheny show up well in the bulletin.

SHOT WOMAN, KILLED HIMSELF

JEALOUSY WAS THE CAUSE

Prompted by jealousy Peter Fitzwilliams, a young railroader, shot his boarding mistress, Mrs. Sarah Walters, five times, about 10:30 o'clock last night, at her home, 2502 Frazier street, and after reloading the revolver, shot himself through the head. Fitzwilliams died instantly and the woman is at Mercy hospital, and the physicians say she cannot recover. The tragedy took place in the rear room on the third floor of the Frazier street house, the only witness being a 9-year-old colored girl, Mary Coyle, who was employed by Mrs. Walters as a domestic.

All of the boarders had retired for the night, with the exception of Fitzwilliams and Peter Leahy. The two men, it is alleged, had been paying attention to Mrs. Walters, whose husband is in Philadelphia. They quarreled last night. Fitzwilliams went upstairs and Leahy thought he had gone to bed, but was startled by the report of the five shots fired.

Leahy started up the stairs, and just as he reached the second floor a sixth shot rang out. On entering Mrs. Walters' sleeping room he saw Fitzwilliams stretched out on the floor dead, with a wound in his forehead and the Walters woman lay across the bed with five bullets in her body. She had evidently been shot while asleep.

The little colored girl, who also slept in the room, was crouched in the corner, terror-stricken, and unable to speak. The revolver with which the deed was done was of 32-caliber, and, as the weapon is a five-shooter and six shots were fired, Fitzwilliams must have reloaded it before shooting himself. Five empty shells were found on the floor.

Dr. W. H. McWilliams was called and he at once ordered Mrs. Walters removed to the hospital. Fitzwilliams' body was removed to the morgue. Two wounds, one through the jaw and another in the stomach, will likely prove fatal for Mrs. Walters. Deputy Coroners Hugh Dempsey and George Mercer investigated the case. Leahy and the negro girl were locked up as witnesses. Fitzwilliams was 25 years old and Mrs. Walters was 32.

WIFE OF ROLLER CLAIMS M'LAUGHLIN ATTACKED HER

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 24.—A special grand jury was called late this afternoon to pass on the case of Fred C. Wolfe, charged with the murder of Thomas Connelly and Patrick McLaughlin.

Two funerals will be held tomorrow morning, one from the St. Ann's and one from St. Columba's church when Thomas Connelly and Patrick McLaughlin will be buried. Two thousand men will march in the two funeral processions, which will be merged.

Mrs. Thomas H. Burns, wife of a roller who is at work in the upper mill of the American Steel Hoop Company, claims that McLaughlin was one of the gang who attacked her Friday night during the absence of her husband.

Mass meetings of the strikers were held here and at Girard today and attended by President Theodore J. Shaffer. He would say nothing about the situation, but admitted that his mission to New York to secure a conference with the company was fruitless.

MIDVALE COMPANY IS TO BE TESTED

Armor Plate Competition Is to Be Tried Next Month by Government.

INVADES LOCAL PRODUCTS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Oct. 24.

The first official test of the ability of the Midvale Steel Company to make armor plate up to the standard of the United States navy will be made in November at the naval proving grounds at Indian Head, near Washington. The company at that time will submit an armor plate of its own manufacture for the severe tests of the government.

The official test is of prime importance not only to the company but to the navy and the armor plate pool. If the armor plate of the new company successfully withstands the experiments it will mean that the Carnegie Steel Company of the United States Steel Corporation and the Bethlehem Steel Company controlled by Charles M. Schwab are not to have in the future that monopoly in the making of armor plate for the American navy which has been so profitable for the last 12 years.

A year ago the Midvale Steel Company broke the armor plate combination and secured orders for armor plates aggregating 6,500 tons at a price below the lowest bids of the other two companies. It was given the contracts with the written guarantee that it should make armor plate that would meet all the demands of the navy department.

If at the November test the company can make good its guarantee it is assured of other and bigger contracts, and the navy is assured actual competition in the bidding for armor plate orders, a condition which has not existed for eight years or more.

EPISCOPALIANS AMEND CANON ON DIVORCE

Re-Marriage of Separated Persons Is Hedged About With Restrictions.

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—An agreement on the divorce question was reached today by the house of bishops and the house of deputies of the Episcopal general convention. That section of the canon bearing directly on the remarriage of divorced persons, which was amended by the bishops Saturday, assented to by the deputies today and becomes effective at once, provides that no minister shall knowingly solemnize the marriage of a divorced person unless such person be the innocent party in a divorce for adultery, and then only after a year has elapsed since the application for remarriage, and upon presentation of satisfactory court record.

The bishops also adopted an amendment to a section referring to the administration of sacraments, providing if a clergyman shall have reasonable cause to doubt whether a person has been married "otherwise as the word of God and discipline of this church allow," such clergyman shall refer the matter to the bishop before administering the sacraments.

Both houses have appointed a joint commission to consider the advisability of electing a presiding bishop of the church.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO CARNEGIE

Iron and Steel Institute Presents Laird With Bessemer Medal.

ITS HIGHEST HONOR

JAMES GAYLEY ALSO SPEAKS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The opening exercises of the American meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute, the second meeting which this international organization has held on American soil, were held tonight. The session was marked by the presentation to Andrew Carnegie of the highest honors that the institute can bestow—the Bessemer gold medal.

Andrew Carnegie is the first American to become president of the organization, its membership being chiefly made up of Englishmen. The award tonight was made because of his life work in the development of the iron and steel industry of the world.

President Fornes of the board of aldermen, on behalf of Mayor McClellan, welcomed the foreign visitors to this city. Mr. Carnegie replied. He said:

"Upon our last visit, the institute was amazed at your extraordinary development, but they find today that, rapid as that had been, it has proceeded at even quicker pace since then. The figures are positively staggering. Your product of pig iron the year we visited you, 1890, was 9,200,000 tons; in 1903 it was over 18,000,000. Thus in 13 years it has doubled. Bessemer steel production has much more than doubled, and in openhearth steel, the increase is more than 11 fold—from half a million tons in 1890, to nearly six millions in 1903. Your export trade in manufactures has increased nearly three fold. In the decade, 1890 to 1900, you added 13,500,000 to your population, and the national wealth increased from 65 to 94 billions of dollars. No wonder we come to see for ourselves and study such portentous growth.

Lesson to Warring Powers.

"There is one source of intense satisfaction open to our British members in doing so, for they cannot fail to remember that while to you is credited the development of the iron and steel industry here, it is to their older land that you are indebted for the inventions which have rendered such wonderful development possible.

"The institute congratulates the republic upon this surprising increase. Your growth has not lessened the output of any other country. The demands of the world have increased quite as rapidly as all the iron and steel-making nations have been able to supply these and, looking to the future, the question is not how various lands are to find a market for increased iron and steel production, but rather how the imperative demands of the ever-increasing population, and for new developments of the world, are to be met at reasonable prices.

"This institute is cosmopolitan to an unprecedented extent. We have members from no less than 19 of the most important countries of the world. The inventions and discoveries made in all these lands are promptly and fully explained at our meeting. Some day the statesmen of various powers now viewing each other with unfounded suspicion make take a lesson from the world-wide Iron and Steel institute. Were the representatives of one-fourth or even fewer, of the countries which furnish our members to meet as we do, and co-operate in one common aim as we do in friendly rivalry, we should soon see a better and happier world."

Carnegie Receives Medal.

Sir James Kitson, former president of the institute delivered the speech of presentation. In replying to this, Mr. Carnegie said:

"I owe my success to getting around me men better than myself. There are three classes of men in the world—men who go through the world, and do not receive the recognition they deserve; men who do receive what they deserve, and men who receive more than they deserve. I feel that I am in the latter class.

"Better than title, rank or wealth are the patents of a true nobility. This medal I hope to hold and pass down to my descendants as I received it from you, pure gold, untarnished in its setting."

Speeches were also made by John Fritz of Philadelphia, Bessemer gold medalist, and James Gayley, president of the American Institute of Mining Engineers.

Mrs. Clarence Walker was scratched on the hand, which has swollen to nearly twice its normal size. The cat was killed and was taken to Baltimore tonight to see whether it had hydrophobia, by Dr. Arthur Hawkins. Hilda Isaacs was also taken to the Pasteur institute.

PART OF DEAL GOES THROUGH

Hall Light Bill Is Passed Finally and Others on Second Reading.

MEETS TOMORROW

Bitter Fight Until After Midnight on Ordinances of Pittsburgh Railways Company.

ALL AMENDMENTS DEFEATED

One-half of the electric light and traction deal between the Hall and Verner syndicates was put through common council last night, at a session lasting until long after midnight. The Duquesne light ordinance, owned by the Hall syndicate, was passed finally, and the three traction ordinances, for the franchises of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, went through on second reading, making necessary another meeting of common council to complete the deal.

The Republican minority, with the exception of two members, W. R. Bailey and Joel Gibbon, opposed the deal to the end. Bailey is an employe of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company, a part of the Hall syndicate, and Gibbon is a contractor who receives work from the Pittsburgh Railways Company. Bailey supported both ends of the deal, the Duquesne light ordinance and the traction measures. Gibbon voted only for the traction bills. The Republicans mustered 17 votes, including the vote of A. G. Roenigk, Citizen, of the Twentieth ward, who voted against the traction part of the program, but voted for the free franchise to the Hall syndicate.

Fought Every Step.

The Duquesne Light Company's ordinance was passed in short order, but a prolonged fight occurred over the principal traction franchise, the ordinance of the Federal Street and Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway Company for a line in Seventh avenue, from Smithfield street to Grant street, and in New Grant street to Liberty avenue; also in Grant street, from Seventh avenue to Sixth avenue.

The battle over this ordinance began about 8:30 o'clock and lasted until midnight. Over 30 roll-calls on amendments and appeals from decisions of President Ward were taken on this bill. The Republicans fought every step, but every alteration proposed in the ordinance was opposed as regularly as if the administration members had been drilled. Whenever an amendment was offered the other side quickly moved to lay it on the table, thus shutting off debate.

Regardless of the merit of any amendment, it was not given the slightest consideration. The program outlined for the meeting was to pass every bill without change, and this was carried out to the letter.

Propositions to limit the fare to five cents, to provide transfers, to prevent crowding of cars, to secure compensation for the franchise, to compel the company to keep its tracks clear of ice and snow in the winter without expense to the city, to repave the streets between the tracks and one foot outside, to provide that cars should not run less than 10 minutes apart, to require the company to maintain a first-class service and enough cars for traffic, were voted down in less time than it took to offer them.

Game of "Bunco."

Brand claimed that the whole thing was a game of "bunco," that the granting of a few loops downtown could not better the service, but only serve to shut out competition. He asserted that the action of Pittsburgh councils in granting these franchises for nothing and without any restriction would be considered sufficient cause in Europe, where civilization was supposed to be less advanced, for the lawmakers granting them to be mobbed by the public. Dr. A. M. Barr declared the proceedings an outrage. W. A. Martin said that the administration members did not have "backbone." He also added that nothing could "penetrate" them and nothing would "penetrate" them until 1906, when they would appeal to their constituents for re-election.

All of these appeals and condemnations fell upon deaf ears. The majority did not even attempt to answer them but, following every amendment, moved to lay them on the table, which did not admit of debate. The Republicans made insinuations that under ordinary circumstances there might have been sufficient cause for a personal encounter, but the other side heeded them not and voted as directed. They made no speeches except D. J. Bole, whose plea was that the amendments proposed might be "detrimental to the administration and to the corporation." He also included "the people" in his list of those possibly injured, but William Brand, the Republican floor leader, answered him and demonstrated that "the people" were not thought of.

Ward Supported Deal.

President Ward did all that could be expected of him. At the previous meeting, on Wednesday, Ward voted in favor of $25,000 compensation for the Federal Street & Pleasant Valley traction franchise.

Last night he voted against any compensation for this franchise. He also aided the administration whenever he could by his decisions. There has been no president of councils in many years from whose decisions there have been so many appeals than from those of President Ward. At least a dozen appeals were taken last night, but on every point the minority got the worst of it. The most notable point decided by President Ward was on the question of the previous question.

At 10 minutes of 9 o'clock, when the Federal Street and Pleasant Valley traction ordinance was underconsideration, D. J. Bole gave notice that two hours later he would call for the previous question and thus cut off debate. When that time arrived, Brand claimed that the question of previous question should have been determined at the beginning, as the rules specified, and not at the end of the two hours. No vote had been taken at the beginning yet Ward ruled that the vote should be taken when Bole called for the previous question which was at 10 minutes of 11 o'clock. Brand took an appeal but was voted down.

There was another very conspicuous instance in which President Ward favored the majority. This was after the Federal Street and Pleasant Valley traction franchise ordinance had been passed on second reading and the Morningside Street Railways Company's ordinance was called up. This ordinance was referred at the pervious meeting of common council to a special committee.

The bill was called up about midnight and C. W. Helmold, chairman of the special committee, reported it affirmatively —without the president asking for reports of special committees or a motion being made to withdraw it from the committee, as is the rule and custom.

Common Sense His Excuse.

No motion was offered to accept or affirm the report of the committee and President Ward announced that the bill was on second reading. W. H. Johns made the point of order that the measure was not properly before council, but this point was overruled by Ward, and Johns took an appeal. His appeal, of course, was voted down. In several instances when President Ward could not cite a rule for making a decision, he simply said it was "common sense," and the minority was compelled to accept his view.

The Duquesne light ordinance was passed finally by a vote of 31 to 15, every Citizen voting for the bill and every Republican, with the exception of Bailey, voting against it. The members voted as follows:

Ayes—Bailey, Bole, Bright, Collins, Cronmiller, Dengler, Finerty, Frankel, Guiland, Hammer, Helmold, Hogue, Hughes, Joyce, Kalchthaler, Maslowski, Mathews, Myers, McKelvey, McNally, Pfannkuch, Porter, Roenigk, Scott, Shenkan, Simon, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Zeuger, President Ward—31.

Noes—Barr, Barton, Bergman, Brand, Gibbon, Girdwood, Johns, Kohne, Lewis, Martin, Milby, Morin, McKnight, Perley, Semmelrock —15.

Compensation Killed.

After the passage of the Duquesne light ordinance the Federal Street and Pleasant Valley traction ordinance was called up. John Maslowski moved to reconsider the amendment, made at the last meeting, for a $25,000 annual rental from the company. President Ward and Roenigk were the only Citizens to vote with the Republicans on this motion, although six or eight had voted with them at the previous meeting, including Thomas Scott of the Second ward. The vote was 29 to 18, divided as follows:

Ayes—Bole, Bright, Collins, Cronmiller, Dengler, Finerty, Frankel, Gibbon, Guiland, Hammer, Helmold, Hogue, Hughes, Joyce, Kalchthaler, Maslowski, Mathews, Myers, McKelvey, McNally, Pfannkuch, Porter, Scott, Shenkan, Simon, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Zeuger—29.

Noes—Bailey, Barr, Barton, Bergmann, Brand, Fullerton, Girdwood, Johns, Kohne, Lewis, Martin, Milby, Morin, McKnight, Perley, Roenigk, Semmelrock, President Ward —18.

Then the motion to indefinitely postpone the amendment was made by J. J. McKelvey. Brand moved to lay McKelvey's motion on the table and Ward declared Brand's motion out of order. Brand took an appeal and the chair was sustained by a vote of 31 to 15. The amendment was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 28 to 19.

Brand moved to strike out the section which permits the company to abandon the road or any part of it in two years. This was laid on the table. Brand moved to amend by asking $50,000 annual rental from the company. This was laid on the table.

Pass Second Reading.

Brand, starting at $50,000 as the compensation for the franchise, reduced it as low as $10,000, going down the scale step by step, but the figures were all the same to the Citizens. They refused to vote for any compensation. An amendment to strike out the clause permitting the company to abandon its line in two years was lost. Martin, in a jest, moved to give the company 25 and then 20 years, but with the same result.

Perley said he had a Boston idea to offer. He moved that the company agree not to collect fares from passengers who were standing, and that the cars should not take on any more passengers after the seats were all taken. Brand asked for transfers on all connecting lines and that the company remove the ice and snow from the street and not pile it up on the sidewalks as they do now. These ideas died "aborning."

Bole said he was in favor of many of the amendments proposed by the other side, but he said they were not offered at the proper time. At some distant time in the future, when the railroad had secured all they wanted and more franchises were to be handed out, he was in favor of the traction company and councils having a joint meeting and deciding upon regulations, etc.

Brand ridiculed Bole fore and aft, laying stress on his statements that this amendment and that might be "detrimental to the administration and to the corporation." Another amendment offered was that passengers should not stand between seats in summer cars.

The ordinance was passed on second reading by a vote of 33 to 13, as follows:

Ayes—Bailey, Bole, Bright, Collins, Cronmiller, Dengler, Finnerty, Frankel, Gibbon, Guiland, Hammer, Helmold, Hogue, Hughes, Joyce, Kalchthaler, Maslowski, Mathews, Meyers, McKelvey, McNally, O'Brien, Pfannkuch, Porter, Roenigk, Scott, Shenkan, Simon, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Zeuger, President Ward—33.

Noes—Barr, Barton, Brand, Girdwood, Johns, Kohne, Lewis, Martin, Milby, Morin, McKnight, Perley, Semmelrock—13.

The Morningside ordinance was passed on second reading at 12:45 o'clock this morning, the vote being 32 to 12. At 1:10 o'clock, the Second avenue ordinance was put through on second reading by a vote of 32 to 12.

The Republicans offered many amendments, but all of them were voted down by the syndicate members. During the session there were 54 roll calls.

McNally called up the Second Avenue Passenger Railway Company, which was taken up on second reading. Brand offered an amendment for a $50,000 annual fee. On motion of Mr. McKelvey this was was laid on the table.

Brand next offered amendments to fix the compensation $25,000 and $10,000 annually, both of which were tabled, as was also his amendment requiring protection to passengers, the proper heating of the cars, etc. No further amendments being offered the bill was finally passed on second reading and the meeting adjourned.

President Ward has called another meeting of common for tomorrow night.

RUSSIANS' POOR GUNNERY SAVED FISHING FLEET

Fired Broadside Without Warning—Then Set Vessel to Watch Damage Inflicted, Without Offering Assistance to Their Victims.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The actual casualties during the one sided bombardment off Dogger Bank can be correctly stated since the arrival at London this evening of the carrying-ship Swift, reporting the safety of the missing trawlers. The Swift left the fleet at 10 a. m. October 23. Her captain says:

"The Russians gave not the slightest warning prior to the commencement of the firing. The admiral of the fishing fleet sent up a rocket warning, and then the firing commenced. He again sent up four green rockets, but this only seemed to increase the ferocity of the bombardment. The poor marksmanship of the Russian gunners was the only thing that saved the entire fleet within range of the searchlights on guns."

At the inquest at Hull today, it was stated that one vessel, the Crane, was sunk, and that four or five were more or less damaged.

Sir Henry King, member of parliament for the central division of Hull, went to the foreign office today to assist in the representation of his constituents.

"This is a most monstrous thing! A cruel outrage," said Sir Henry. "For six hours the Russians left a ship to watch the damage they had occasioned without assisting the victims. There is no possible excuse for the attack. The trawlers saw the squadron before midnight coming on in three lines with all their lights showing. The leeward line, which it is believed was composed of colliers, steamed right through the fishing fleet. When they had passed a signal flashed out from the leading ship of the port division, whereupon the two lines changed their course, bringing the trawlers on their starboard quarter, and without the slightest warning, a broadside was fired. The squadron then steamed off, leaving a ship to watch the results of the operations."

The mate of the trawler Mino, which arrived at Hull with the Moultmein, bringing the news of the firing on the fishing boats, said today:

"Between 200 and 300 shots were fired. Our whole fleet was under search lights which nearly blinded us. The Russians came within less then a quarter of a mile form us. We could see them plainly."

RUSSIA RECOGNIZES HER GROSS BLUNDER

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 24.—No official or unofficial Russian explanation of the unfortunate affair off Dogger Bank is forthcoming up to this time. Vice Admiral Rojestvensky has communicated direct to the emperor, but at 11:30 o'clock tonight the admiralty announced it had not yet received a report. At the same hour the foreign office issued a statement expressing the regrets of the government for the deplorable incident, but explaining that no formal action is possible until Admiral Rojestvensky's official report of the affair has been received.

Emperor Nicholas himself was greatly grieved when he heard the news, while he was inspecting the cruiser Oleg at Cronstadt this afternoon. Foreign Minister Lamsdorff expressed to Ambassador Hardinge his deepest personal regrets. The Russian embassy at London has been directed to convey similar expressions to the government of Great Britain. It is felt that this is all that can possibly be done, pending the receipt of Admiral Rojestvensky's statement.

That a horrible blunder has been committed is recognized and deplored everywhere, and nowhere has an attempt been made to justify the firing upon innocent fishermen. Admiral Rojestvensky is too good a man and officer to be summarily condemned. It is agreed that he is entitled to a hearing, but even the admiralty regretfully admits that it is at a loss to understand what explanation could justify such an apparently cold-blooded act as the affair is made to appear by foreign reports.

It developed during the day that the admiralty had strong reason to believe that an attempt would be made against the squadron during its passage through the Great Belt, or the English channel. So specific was the information that even the present crisis has not diverted attention from the possibility of such an attack yet occurring.

It is hinted that the emperor tomorrow will send a formal message to King Edward, conveying his profound sorrow for the incident and offering to make what reparation is possible as soon as the responsibility can be fixed.

Notwithstanding the latent sentiment of hostility against Great Britain, which smoulders in almost every Russian breast, the reports of the blunder of the Baltic fleet have aroused only expressions of sincere regret, coupled with hopes that when Rojestvensky's report arrives it will place a different complexion on the incident.

RUSSIA TO ACT QUICKLY

at the foreign office on request by note from Lord Lansdowne, unofficially expressed deep regret and, as far as it was possible for him to go, gave assurance of speedy action by the Russian government.

At the Russian embassy it was stated that "The whole affair was so obviously a mistake, from whatever cause, that Russia's course was plainly dictated, namely, apology and ample compensation."

BALTIC FLEET FEARED ATTACK BY TORPEDOES

Had Reason to Believe Japanese Were Concealed Among Fishing Craft of England.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Oct. 24.—An official of the Russian embassy said today the Russian authorities recently were informed that the Japanese spy service was organizing, particularly at Stockholm, plans for arming merchantmen and fishing boats for the purpose of torpedoing the passing Russian warships.

The Russian officers fully expected such attacks, and therefore were constantly looking out for floating mines and other destructive agencies. It is also declared Japanese were detected prowling near the Russian hospital ship Orel at Toulon.

ROME, Oct. 24.—The Russian embassy here explains the attack of the Russian Pacific squadron upon the Hull fishing fleet by the statement that a report had been received at St. Petersburg that the Japanese would try to injure Russian ships with explosives thrown from fishing boats. Indeed, the ambassador said, he suspected that the squadron opened fire only after an attempt had been made to attack some of the ships.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, said today: "We have recently learned that the Japanese have been tremendously active in the effort to inflict severe damage upon the Baltic squadron before it reached the far east. Admiral Rojestvensky knew this, and he left home with implicit instructions, no doubt, to keep the most rigid watch throughout his trip. When this is known it is not difficult to see that when his squadron came upon these vessels at night, and saw them approaching his ships even after the initial shots had been fired, his commanders should have mistaken them for vessels hostilely inclined."

FOR STREWING MINES.

Danish Commander Declares Japanese Had Chartered Fleet of Trawlers for This Purpose.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Commander Schell, of the Danish gunboat Beskytteren, arrived at Lerwick from Copenhagen this afternoon. Schell sighted the Baltic fleet last Thursday.

Previous to the departure of the Baltic squadron a rumor was current that the Japanese had chartered a fleet of trawlers for the purpose of strewing mines in the squadron's course. This, Schell said, explains the action of the Russians in firing on the trawlers.

Hit Driver With a Hammer.

While taking trunks out of a Fifth avenue hotel last night William Leahy, a driver for an express company, discovered a man removing the harness from his horse. He remonstrated and the man went to a nearby building. When Leahy returned to his wagon the man hit him with a hammer, badly cutting his scalp. Leahy was sent to the Homeopathic hospital.

OPPOSING ARMIES ARE HEAVILY ENTRENCHING

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 25.—(2:30 a. m.)—News from the far east tonight indicates that both sides are heavily entrenched. Reports that Japanese reinforcements are arriving, taken in connection with the enforced inactivity of the Russian forces on account of weather, are a grave factor in the situation.

There is reason to believe that the Japanese are drawing heavily upon the Port Arthur army, as well as on Japan, in hope of securing a numerical superiority that will enable Field Marshal Oyama to inflict a crushing blow upon Gen. Kuropatkin, when hostilities are resumed.

Emperor Nicholas has received the following dispatch from Gen. Kuropatkin, dated October 22:

"At 9 o'clock this (Sunday) morning the whole of our volunteer sharpshooters harassed the enemy, while the Japanese tried to attack our outposts, but were everywhere repulsed by the Russian fire."

The official returns of the Russian losses, received up to date, do not exceed 30,000. The Russians buried 1,500 Japanese at Lone Tree hill.

MUKDEN, Oct. 24.—(Via Pekin.)—The Russian forces on the left again crossed the Shakhe river October 21, and are now pushing forward towards the Japanese positions, entrenching as they advance. The Japanese can be plainly seen, also busily engaged in making trenches.

The Russian and Japanese armies are now separated by less than four miles, and the whole field of operations of both armies can be plainly seen.

The question of fuel is becoming a serious one. The greater part of the Chinese corn has already been used for fuel and for fodder, while most of the houses in the Chinese villages have been destroyed and their wood used.

TOKYO, Oct. 24.—Field Marshal Oyama reports that the total number of Russian dead discovered is 13,333.

IN BRITISH CHANNEL.

Two Divisions of the Russian Squadron Are Sighted, Steaming Westward.

CHERBOURG, Oct. 24.—Two divisions of the Russian squadron are observed in mid-channel, steaming westward. It is expected they will coal at sea. Four Russian torpedo boats and a Russian transport sailed this evening. There is no longer any Russian vessel in port.

PLYMOUTH, ENGLAND, Oct. 24.—The signal station at Prawle Point telegraphs that a Russian battleship and two cruisers passed there this morning, going west.

TAFT SAYS PHILIPPINES CONTAIN MANY CHRISTIANS

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Secretary of War Taft was the principal speaker at a Republican mass meeting in Brooklyn tonight, held under the auspices of the Union League club. His speech was upon the conditions in the Philippines. One reason advanced by Secretary Taft for a belief that the Filipinos would be able to become a self-governing people is that the archipelago contains over 7,000,000 Christians, and it is the only section of the orient where this condition existed.

Fairbanks Says Government Expenditures Are Measured by Requirements.

CAMPAIGN TOUR OF OHIO

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—Senator Charles W. Fairbanks concluded a strenuous day of campaigning with a speech tonight in the Columbus auditorium, before an audience which packed the main floor and the galleries.

Throughout his tour of Ohio today, which began across the Ohio river from Wheeling and ended in the capital tonight, the senator was accompanied by Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, who also made several addresses. Between Wheeling and Columbus stops were made at Quaker City, Salesville, Lore City, Senecaville, Pleasant City, Byesville, Cambridge, New Concord, Zanesville, Coshocton, Newark and Pataskala. Michigan will be traversed by Senator Fairbanks tomorrow.

The senator tonight spoke in part as follows:

"We make no claims in behalf of the Republican policies and Republican administration which are not justified by actual experience, and we make no charges against Democratic policies and Democratic administration which are not fully warranted. The Democratic party criticises Republican expenditures, but its criticisms are vague; they are quite indefinite. The fact is that public expenditures have been measured by our public requirements. They have no more than kept pace with our rapid national development. An expending nation must not hesitate to make all of those outlays which safety and the prompt and successful dispatch of the public business require. We should pursue no niggardly policy, and should not hesitate to meet fully the public needs."

FRIENDS AND RELATIVES COMPLICATE MATTERS

Both Identify Man Killed by a Car, but the Coroner Is Not Satisfied.

Relatives and friends are at odds over the identifications of the body of a man killed by a traction car in Penn avenue, near Twentieth street, Saturday night. The man was crossing the street when he was struck. After the accident a man and woman called at the morgue and identified the remains as those of Michael McGinty, whose family lives at 2020 Spring alley. Yesterday another man called at the morgue and said he had been told by the wife of the dead man that she had been at the morgue and there saw the remains of her husband. After looking at the body he told the deputies on duty that it was that of Dennis McGinty. The body is still awaiting positive identification.

While George Wiegel and George Williams, both of Elizabeth, were making some repairs on the bridge which crosses the Monongahela river at Elizabeth yesterday, they came in contact with a live wire. Wiegel was killed and Williams received injuries which will likely cause his death. When Wiegel touched the wire he fell and caught on the structural work, hanging suspended 20 feet above the flooring. Williams went to his assistance and in endeavoring to reach him also touched the wire, falling to the floor of the bridge.

Williams' skull was fractured. Wiegel was unconscious when taken from the structural portion of the bridge and died soon afterward. Wiegel was a son of the manager of the marine ways at Elizabeth. He was aged 28 and was married.

Joseph G. Staab, aged 13, died yesterday shortly after noon at his home, 911 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, of injuries received on Sunday. While crossing Island avenue he stumbled and fell, striking his head on the block stones and fractured his skull, which caused death.

Charles Sparkenbach of Linhart postoffice, this county, employed at the Carrie blast furnaces at Rankin, was killed by a train in the company yards yesterday. He walked in front of the engine and eight cars passed over him. He died on his way to Mercy hospital. Sparkenbach's wife, hearing of the accident, spent two hours in trying to trace him, and collapsed when told of her husband's death.

WAR EFFECTS CHINA.

Yi Shi Yi, Commissioned to the World's Fair, Says Pittsburgh Is a Busy Place.

"Pittsburgh is a busy place," said Yi Shi Yi, who was appointed representative of Shan-Tung a province of China, to the St. Louis exposition. He arrived in Pittsburgh Sunday night and spent yesterday sight-seeing. He was formally consul general at Cuba and San Francisco.

Yi Shi Yi, accompanied by his secretary, T. H. Hsia, arrived in the United States four months ago. Reaching St. Louis he discovered the exhibits were not completed and decided to tour the United States. He has visited all important places in the east and is now on his way to St. Louis. "The present war between Russia and Japan," he said, will partly determine the future policy of China. While I should not say it, Which ever side wins in the conflict will wield great influence upon our country."

Medal for Model Foundry Exhibit.

F. D. Frohman, secretary of the S. Obermayer Company, a Pittsburgh foundry company, received word yesterday that the firm had been awarded a gold medal for the best exhibit of supplies, equipment and facings at the model foundry exhibit at the world's fair.

Sent Protest in Boots.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 24.—One thousand men marched upon the city council tonight to protest against the passage of an ordinance granting a renewal of the franchise of the Toledo Railways and Light Company for 25 years upon a basis of six tickets for 25 cents and universal transfers. The ordinance is now pending.

KNOX TO SPEAK AT RALLY HERE

Promises Campaign Managers to Participate in Closing Republican Meeting, Nov. 5.

PENROSE ON TAGGART'S CLAIM

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 24.

Republican County Chairman Thomas J. Ford and H. G. Wasson, chairman of the committee on meetings and speakers, today arranged with Senator P. C. Knox to make an address at the final Republican rally in Pittsburgh, November 5. After a conference this morning with Senator Penrose, Chairman Ford and Mr. Wasson left for Valley Forge. On their return this evening Mr. Wasson said:

We met Senator Knox by appointment at Valley Forge for the purpose of inviting him to participate in the closing meeting of the campaign in Pittsburgh, November 5. It has been our custom in Allegheny county to hold a closing meeting at which all the candidates are invited to be present and make such informal addresses as the occasion may require.

The senator expressed his willingness to participate in the meeting, but of course he will not make a formal speech. The two speeches which he has already made are all he feels he should make during this campaign, under the circumstances. In connection with the meeting there will be an escort parade and a demonstration. We were very cordially received by the senator and spent some little time with him. He accompanied us back to Philadelphia on his way to Washington.

We also made arrangements with Chairman Penrose for speakers for the following meetings: General mass meeting on the South Side, Pittsburgh, October 27, at which T. Edward Murphy of Johnstown will speak; at McKeesport October 28, at which Senator John Fisher of Indiana will speak; at Kean's auditorium November 1, at which Col. Ned Arden Flood will speak, and at Homestead November 4, at which Speaker Henry E. Walton will speak. These meetings will be addressed by local talent as well as by the gentlemen named. By election day we will have held in Allegheny county during the campaign about 125 meetings.

"This claim is ridiculous," said State Chairman Penrose today, when his attention was called to Democratic National Chairman Taggart's prediction that Judge Parker would receive 264 votes in the electoral college, as against 172 for Roosevelt. "It is hardly necessary to dignify Mr. Taggart's extravagant claim with an answer. There is no basis in fact which would justify Chairman Taggart in making the statements credited to him. He knows as well as the other Democratic national leaders, that Judge Parker has no chance to win, has not had from the day of his nomination, and that he is daily losing the little strength he once possessed."

"Democrats always win their battles before election," remarked Col. W. R. Andrews, secretary of the Republican state committee. "When Mr. Taggart classes as doubtful states like Wisconsin and Illinois, he is either trying to deceive himself or to mislead the people."

Chairman Penrose today received a telegram from Congressman John Dalzell cancelling his speechmaking itinerary for this week. Mr. Dalzell wires he has a bad cold, and that he has been obliged to stop making speeches, by order of his physicians.

Among other callers at headquarters today were John M. Reynolds, candidate for congress, Bedford; George L. Patterson, New Castle; Frederick Rentz and C. C. Cutshaw, New Castle; State Treasurer Mathues, Delaware; M. C. McQuown, Clearfield; Superior Court Justice W. C. Porter, Pittsburgh; William Lauder, Bedford, and ex-Representative T. C. Kennedy, Beaver.

DARING THIEVES WORK OLD GAME

Try to Rob Jewelry Store of August Loch, in Allegheny, and Escape from Police.

JUMPED THROUGH WINDOW

A trio of crooks who make their residence in the First ward, Allegheny, made a bold attempt at robbery yesterday afternoon, in the jewelry store of August Loch, at Federal and North Diamond streets. Their game was suspected by Clark Stewart, a salesman, who had one battle in the store and another in Federal street with two of the thieves, while scores of persons stood idly and watched the encounter.

Harry Wilson, known as "Sheeney Harry," one of the robbers, was arrested by Sergt. Sydney Brauf and a few minutes later escaped through a window from the office of Supt. M. H. Campbell. After being pursued for almost a mile he was recaptured at Rebecca and Corry streets by Capt. Benjamin Thomas of No. 1 engine company.

Another man and a woman escaped and are being sought by the police. The affair caused the most intense excitement and for more than an hour afterward hundreds of people crowded the streets in the vicinity of city hall.

When it is considered that Loch's store is not more than 100 feet from police headquarters, the game tried by the trio becomes one of the most daring brought to the attention of the Allegheny police in years.

The man and woman who escaped entered the store shortly before 3 o'clock and asked to be shown some gold watch chains. Clark Stewart, the salesman, noticed that each handled the chains peculiarly, as though trying to roll them into the smallest possible spheres, that they might easily be dropped out of sight. While Stewart was observing these actions closely, Wilson entered the store and walking to where the two were conversing with Stewart, said he wanted his watch repaired immediately. Stewart told him to take his watch to the repair department in another part of the store. Wilson, who was standing close to the other man and the woman, suddenly "gave the elbow" to his male confederate. The three then ran toward the door with Stewart in pursuit. The latter grasped the larger of the two men and then raised his foot to prevent either of the others from getting out the door. The woman fell over Stewart's foot and almost upset the latter, who was battling with his man. This man finally broke away and then Stewart, stepping outside, locked Wilson in.

Directly in front of the office of Mayor Wyman, Stewart laid hands on the woman, thinking she had several of the chains that were in the tray. As Stewart did this the man with whom he had had his battle and who had accompanied the woman, grasped Stewart by the throat and dragged him away from the woman. Yelling "police" loudly, Stewart struggled with the thief while the woman ran, with remarkable speed, out North Diamond street. Detective John King and Special Officer James H. Ray chased the woman, who ran into the front door of a house in East Diamond street and escaped through it to Ark alley by a rear door. No trace of her was found after this and it is supposed she had time to board a street car in Ohio street.

In the excitement the man who had fought with Stewart escaped, no one noticing in what direction he started. Brauf arrested Wilson in Loch's store and took him into the office of Supt. Campbell. No one was in the office at the time and when Brauf turned his back to summon someone, Wilson raised a window, sprang over the sill and dropped about 15 feet to the pavement below. Many in the crowd that had been attracted saw the man make the jump. Frank Dodson, one of the city engineers, jumped into a buggy standing in the rear of the hall and started down Ohio street after Wilson. Passing Hope engine house, at the foot of Marion avenue, Dodson called to Capt. Thomas. The latter had seen Wilson running down Corry street and went in pursuit of him. He overtook and arrested Wilson at the corner of Rebecca street. When searched at the police station Wilson had two watches in his pockets. Loch says nothing was taken from his store.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

For November Is Out Today—See the Advertisement in This Paper.

This, the Thanksgiving and Election number of this beautiful magazine, with its 64 handsomely illustrated pages, is the finest issue that this deservedly popular periodical has yet put out. Every number is a new revelation, not only of the printer's art, but resplendent in its gems of artistic beauty and its intensely interesting and practical articles, it is preeminently a magazine for the home circle, and is welcomed by every member of it—the men and children as well as the women.

Where so much is good it is almost invidious to note special features. But it seems to us that one of the most important articles which has appeared in magazine literature for many a day is the story of the spectacular career of Sully, "King of Cotton"—a startling revelation of the planters' "Crime Against the Cotton-Seed." But for Sully's marvelous warming the cotton supply of the world might have deteriorated more than it did—and may yet if the lesson passes unheeded.

Other articles that will be welcomed in the November number are the ten prize recipes for old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinners, and a brand-new plan for the entertainment of guests at the Thanksgiving feast; a bright article that the college girl will read with avidity, while the girl at home will find many pages all her own; many special articles—several of which are appropriate to election time; short stories, crisp and "good"—that's what you want a story to be; and the regular departments crowded full, as usual, of good things that are well worth reading and go to make life worth living.

This number will go into half a million homes, which means between two million and three million readers. You will be doing a happy thing for yourself and your family if you include yourselves among them.

Fur-Wearing Weather All But Here.

In fact some people have already gotten out their furs. If you, madam, have set your mind on a new neckpiece or set of furs for the Winter of 1904-5, and if you in your purchases desire to practice the science of economy, it would be well to put the matter off no longer. It is almost certain that furs will advance as soon as the really cold weather sets in.

We have a large collection, an unusually large collection, this season of every sort of furs that will be worn during the coming Winter, from the inexpensive squirrel and fox to the richest of Russian sables. Yet selling has already been so heavy we cannot say when we may have to replenish our stocks, nor how much more we may have to pay, and therefore ask, for these same qualities.

Mr. Hearst, who like Bryan, appears to be interested in Democratic success only as a means of promoting Populistic principles, has refused to comply with the Tammany demand that he shall decline the Populist nomination to congress. This puts it up to Tammany hall whether its nomination of Mr. Hearst will be withdrawn. It is understood that Leader Murphy did not desire to give Mr. Hearst the nomination in the first place and only consented at the personal request of Judge Parker as part of his harmonizing policy. If Mr. Hearst is able to stay upon the ticket after his refusal to get off the Populist ticket, it may be taken as an indication that Judge Parker's influence has again been exerted in his favor.

The lynching of George W. Blount, a negro politician, in Berkely, Va., is another campaign incident illustrative of the worth of Democratic professions of concern for human rights. His offense was striking a policeman, which in communities under the rule of law is not classed as more heinous than a case of aggravated assault, but a mob took the negro out of the station house and murdered him. It is a literal fact that the Filipinos have more liberty, more participation in the government and more benefit of the consent of the governed principle than a majority of the inhabitants in a number of states under the rule of the Democratic party. And yet one of the great arguments by which the Democratic party is appealing for the custody of the national government is that it will rescue the Filipinos from oppression.

The interesting development of football in recent years has been the rise of the West Point and Annapolis teams to the first rank, bringing them into the class with Yale, Harvard and Princeton. Whatever may be said of the advisability of the strenuous game in the colleges, it seems to fit into the curriculum of the training at our military academies where young men are taught to fight. But their football contests are "gentlemanly" so far as they can be, while the superb physical training they have enables them to emerge from the fierce contests without injuries. People who have been disgusted by the delays in the ordinary game to allow players to "get their wind" or to carry off the disabled ones watch with no little satisfaction the annual games between the army and navy, where there is seldom a casualty. While the Yale-Harvard and Yale-Princeton games were once considered the leading contests of the year on the gridiron, this season Annapolis has defeated Princeton and West Point downed Yale, so when the cadets meet in Philadelphia the battle will be worth watching.

While the erection of tall buildings has become a part of the development of real estate in American cities, the height of such structures is limited abroad. The limit in Prussian cities is 74 feet, and recently the Central Association of German Manufacturers petitioned that modifications be made in the interest of the iron industry and because some cities found it difficult to accommodate the growing population. The ministers of public works, the interior and commerce joined in refusing to allow a suspension of the rules, giving as their reasons the fact that it had been demonstrated that water could not reach the top stories nor could people easily be rescued from them in case of fire. Moreover, they said that the permission would tend to promote unhealthy real estate speculation. Apparently the esthetic question of uniformity in the height of buildings was not considered at all nor the unhealthfulness by excluding sunlight from streets. In the meantime Contractor McDonald of the New York subway predicts that Manhattan will soon be a covered city, with arcades across the streets and a great increase in rapid transit by tunnels. What the future of the skyscraper will be no one seems to have the temerity to predict.

Democrats visiting Esopus yesterday heard some more "piazza preaching" from Judge Parker, who thinks he is following the successful method employed by McKinley from his Canton doorstep. The text of this sermon from the judge was the menace of contributions from corporations who have profited by favors and wish to perpetuate the present administration. When he was active in politics individuals passed the contribution box and gave as they were able for legitimate expenses, but now there is bribery, colonization and the organization of "floaters" in doubtful states. Moderate contributions from individuals he considers patriotic but large sums can be wrung from corporations only through fear or the expectation of favors. It would hardly be safe to assume from this that Taggart has refused contributions from the Tobacco trust or the Standard Oil Company. As for bribery, Judge Parker knows well enough that the practice has been reduced to a minimum by the secret ballot. There were "floaters" in the days when the judge was electing candidates and when Barnum of Democratic fame telegraphed orders for more mules to pull the party through a tight place, but there has been a change in public sentiment for the better since then rather than for the worse as Judge Parker would have us believe. There are yet two weeks for him to solemnly reiterate great truths in the abstract, but he does not even express them in a new form to interest the voter. The Democrats are well supplied with imagination, but seem to lack originality.

A Reprehensible Attempt.

We publish today evidence of a flagrant attempt to approach a representative of The Gazette to secure through him the use of our columns for a personal object. The Gazette is always willing to give publicity to proceedings in behalf of any public purpose, and it is unnecessary, as it is reprehensible, to attempt to tamper with any representative of this paper to procure the insertion of proper matter. The staff of The Gazette is selected for its own exclusive service in all matters pertaining to its business, and it is just because The Gazette is thus exacting and has a staff upon whose loyal integrity it can rely that it is able in its turn to give the public faithful and disinterested service. There have been previous occasions when representatives of The Gazette have had to repel the insult of overtures for illicit favors, but they were made in a way that furnished no record upon which action could be based. In this case the record is complete, and is given to the public as an instance of a practice which merits severe condemnation. The transaction, while trifling itself, is of a class which directly attacks the integrity of the press and it is akin to a system in public affairs to which The Gazette is a relentless foe.

Parker's Slanders Refuted.

In a speech on the 15th inst., Judge Parker made sweeping charges against the character of American administration in the Philippines, declaring among other things that the officials are such that "at the best they have been inefficient; at the worst dishonest, corrupt and despotic." The country was described as sinking into an abyss of disease, poverty and distress, while the government was stifling the expression of complaint by a "complete, far-reaching, thorough system of espionage."

It so happens that the governor of the Philippines is himself a distinguished Democrat, Gen. Luke E. Wright, formerly of Memphis. Secretary Taft telegraphed to him Judge Parker's remarks and asked for his comment upon them as the responsible head of the administration of Philippine affairs. In answer Gov. Wright has replied seriatim to Judge Parker's charges, showing the absurdity in detail and concluding with the brusque assertion that "all these statemen are the veriest nonsense, without a scintilla of fact to support them."

Of course, in making his statements Judge Parker was imposed upon by some of the copperheads who give free rein to their imagination in order to defame the national government, but it does not speak well for Judge Parker's capacity that he is so gullible, nor does it indicate much dignity of character that he is so ready to promulgate ex-parte calumny.

We notice that Judge Parker's course in this particular is very trying to the loyalty of some of his supporters. The Memphis Commercial-Appeal is energetically advocating his election, but it is published in a community that knows Luke E. Wright too well to swallow any absurdities about his having become the tool of a ruthless despotism. It is therefore moved to relieve its feelings by this outburst:

> Those distinguished blatherskites who have been a-blathering about Filipino independence and corollary inanities claim to be helping to elect Judge Parker.
> Referring to the report that the professional patriots in Manila have been felt encouraged to start another movement for the political independence, the Commercial-Appeal goes on to say:
>
> If these fiery exhorters arouse their half-tamed fellows to disorder and rapine by their perfervid utterances, and if the task of governing the islands is rendered more difficult and expensive, our homebred Tagal-Americans will find that they are supporting Judge Parker with a knife.
>
> This country is engaged in the solution of one of the most difficult problems that ever confronted a civilized people and it is bending every energy to solve it wisely. Every word uttered calculated to embarrass it will be resented by the spirit of the nation which stands for—"right or wrong, our country."

We hope the editor of the Commercial-Appeal sent a marked copy of this patriotic article to its presidential candidate. It might do him good to let him know what some of his party supporters are thinking. After the election is over and the party is through with him, Judge Parker will be quite likely to hear things from Democratic party papers that will be more instructive to his judgment than flattering to his self-esteem.

A Discreditable Explanation.

No explanation has yet been given of the action of the Baltic squadron in bombarding English fishing smacks, and it may be some time before one is forthcoming, as the Russian admiral has gone on his way without stopping to inquire as to the results of the bombardment and it is not definitely known when he will get into communication with his government. Meanwhile the hypothesis advanced by Russian officials is virtually an assumption that the nerves of the Russian officers are in such a jumpy condition that they were liable to mistake fishing smacks for Japanese torpedo boats. A cock-and-bull story is told of how information reached the Russian government that the Japanese spy service had organized a torpedo attack from Stockholm and that the officers of the Baltic squadron were on the lookout for it and mistook the fishing boats for the approaching Japanese. Things have evidently changed a great deal, since the time when Japanese were regarded as being so inconsiderable that they could be safely treated with contemptuous neglect. Their naval power is absurdly magnified when it is imagined that it could reach to the North sea and occupy Swedish ports without discovery. Deeply as the theory reflects upon the steadiness and competency of the Russian naval officers, it is likely to be the true one, for, leaving out of account all considerations of common humanity, they would hardly expose themselves to the derision of their professional compeers all over the civilized world by deliberately picking out a helpless fleet of fishing smacks for an antagonist.

However the incident may be treated, it will add greatly to the impression of weakness and incompetency which more than the actual defeats sustained has destroyed Russian prestige. Everything about this Baltic fleet has been discreditable to Russia. Whatever may be hereafter accomplished, the fact remains that what was supposed to be the greatest military empire in the world was found quite unready to do anything when the efficiency of her preparation was put to the test. The excuse of having been taken unawares is ridiculous, even as applied to the situation in Manchuria, but no possible excuse can be offered for the fact that the Baltic squadron, defending home waters nearest to the seat of government, required over eight months to get ready to begin. It cannot arrive on the scene of war until midwinter, when such ports as Russia may still possess will be sealed by ice. And what chance could it have against a Japanese squadron when its officers are already so rattled that they cannot distinguish between a man-of-war and a fishing smack? Such things indicate that the strength of Russia, which has been so imposing upon paper, is really but a colossal sham. The continental powers whose international policy has always been overhung by the portentous question, "How will Russia regard this?" are now relieved from the pressure of that anxiety. Since the Russian bear got his paws caught in the Manchurian trap he is seen by the whole world to be not near so formidable as used to be thought, and that discovery is likely to have considerable effect upon the progress of events. It is in this direction even more than in Manchuria that the chief losses of Russia from the present war are likely to be experienced.

County Prisoners on Roads.

York county proposes to put in force the law that permits the employment of county prisoners on the public roads. There has been objection, but Commissioner Hildebrand says he believes an economy can be effected for the county and insists the idea will be carried out. The present board of commissioners of York county have effected several economies during the current term and they are likely to make good on this project. In addition to getting something for the keeping of the prisoners the county should make an advance in the desirable direction of good roads.

York is not the only county in the state that might make good use of this law. There are many others that have more reason to improve their highways and that have more prisoners than they know what to do with. For example, it was recently reported that Westmoreland county had twice as many prisoners as it had accommodations for. In Fayette there has been considerable discussion of the matter of allowing prisoners outside the jail, which has been justified by the fact that there is scant room in the prison for the large number of prisoners who cannot be trusted to remain outside and to appear when wanted. These counties are not peculiar in their conditions, but are selected for illustration because they are our near neighbors. They need better roads. The highways need constant repair to keep them in even fair condition. Why not use the county prisoners for the purpose?

There is another aspect in which the employment of prisoners on the public roads recommends itself. It is in dealing with that class familiarly known as tramps. A sentence in jail at hard rest has no terrors for these fellows, who will put up with many things so long as they may escape work. The peripatetic variety avoid those places where they are compelled to work. Some years ago Judge Criswell of Venango county decided to put in force the law for working vagrants on the roads, and the practice has fallen into disuse simply because Venango county cannot get hold of any tramps to work. For this one class alone it is worth while for any county to put this wise law in operation.

Gen. Miles' letter upon the campaign issues will add to the regret which his utterances upon public affairs generally inspire. Moral deterioration under the influence of political ambition has rarely been so marked as in the case of this gallant soldier, whose career in its proper sphere gave him ample claims upon the respect and admiration of his fellow countrymen.

There is reason why Great Britain might demand the recall of the Baltic fleet. It is an international nuisance. A fleet that does not know better than to fire on every fishing fleet it meets ought not to be allowed at large.

One Russian suggests that the Baltic fleet may have been at target practice when it fired upon the fishing smacks. That excuse is worse than none. The English have good cause to object to the use of such targets.

No one has attempted to explain why a special election is necessary in the Twenty-second ward. Simply a case of increasing the expense in the hope of securing a political advantage at the cost of the taxpayers.

It is the season of the gorgeous chrysanthemum. Mr. Frick's conservatory is open to the public, and next Sunday the Phipps conservatory will exhibit the finest collection ever seen in this country.

While there is nothing credible about the Democratic claims, there is the excuse that when they started to make a claim there was no law to prevent them claiming enough.

President Reed and Supt. Murphy have the hardihood to say that Pittsburgh is getting a good street car service. And the company is asking for more free franchises.

Getmany says the Baltic fleet is badly officered. In other words, the Russians are incompetent. Harsh estimate for a friendly power.

The most charitable view taken is that Mr. Parker has been deceived. What kind of a president would this credulous man make?

Russia may plead mistake for the attack, but what can she plead for the failure to give assistance to the drowning fishermen?

If the Japanese have buried 15,000 Russian dead they must be in possession of practically the whole field of battle.

That Baltic fleet is not as harmless as it looked.

Bad Roads Neglected.

A ride through the rural districts of Crawford county discloses some pretty bad roads and a lack of watering troughs. There is no need to enumerate or describe them. Those whose business it is to look after these conditions know full well where the defects are and may know how to remedy them if they will.—Crawford Journal.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—One need hardly be surprised that Henry Klen, an Iowa farmer, was driven insane by the noise in New York and committed suicide. Klen lost his reason in the tumult and confusion of the Third avenue transfer station, at Forty-second street, and after overpowering two men who foresaw his intention, leaped to death beneath an approaching train. Hundreds of women saw the fatal act, and half a dozen of them fainted. Traffic was delayed an hour during the early morning rush. To the average New Yorker the death of Klen is but an incident of the day. At most he was the cause of inconveniencing many who had appointments downtown. But in reality the noise and confusion of the city must, to some extent, aggravate the nervousness that is almost a national American malady. We—or most of us—are in too great a hurry to stop and think of these things until something like the death of Klen occurs to call it to our attention.

The transfer station at Third avenue and Forty-second street is only one of many of the sort. At Herald Square the police are trying to make it possible for pedestrians to cross the street without fear, and they are succeeding to some extent. But even the police cannot stop the noise and confusion that results from the clanging of bells of two surface street car lines and the rumble of the "L" trains overhead, to say nothing of the hoarse voices of drivers of wagons and the toot of the automobile horns. Considering all these things—and many more—one can appreciate the state of mind of Klen, fresh from the quiet of the country and plunged into a whirlpool of noise and confusion. If such things get into the nerves of men city born and bred, what must they do to one coming from the farm, where the rumble of an occasional jolt wagon in the road is an event?

Gypsies Camp in Broadway.

With tents pitched, fires burning, horses tethered, sheep grazing and birds singing, 125 gypsies are encamped in Broadway, not exactly at Herald Square, but on Broadway, nevertheless. This interesting band of fortune tellers has taken temporary possession of a plot of ground at Two Hundred and Sixteenth street and Broadway. There are in all about 25 families. Each family has its own camp—tents, wagons, horses and other necessary requisites. These minor camps are included in the main camp and all unite in matters of common interest. The head of each family is the "mayor" of his camp, and when any matter of universal interest is to be decided a meeting is called, to which all the mayors are summoned. Everybody was busy. Of course, the famous Buckland family was much in evidence. "Aunt Betsy" Buckland is said to be the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter, and she herself has a seventh daughter in camp. The Buckland family has just come back from a tour of European cities, and has brought gypsies of all nationalities. It is the intention of the band to remain at the present camp all winter. When asked why they did not go south for the winter, old "Pop" Buckland scratched his head and said:

"Well, you see, we ain't going to have such cold weather here this winter, so what's the use of going south?"

When asked how he knew that the winter was going to be mild, he said:

"Well, if you had studied the ways of the birds all your life you'd know something about it, too, I reckon."

Who Built the Subway, Anyhow?

The question, "Who built the subway?" is arousing discussion in various quarters just now. "Was it John B. McDonald, who got the contract to build it for $35,000,000; William Barclay Parsons, who drew the plans; the rapid transit commission, who approved the plans, or August Belmont and the Interborough Company, who found the money to finance the undertaking?" Mr. McDonald was quoted as saying, in some bitterness of spirit, on Friday, that "Wall street does not give a continental for the contractor after he gets the dirt off his shovel." Mr. McDonald was at his office for a short time today. When asked, "Who built the subway?" he smiled. "I'm sure I can't say," he began. Then becoming serious, he added: "The subway problem is solved for all time. I claim no special credit, except what may attach to the completion of the undertaking within the time and under the conditions called for by my contract. The public is the chief beneficiary, and it must decide who is entitled to credit in the premises."

Mrs. Gavit Gets Her Jewels.

Through the honesty of a fireman of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, Mrs. Gavit, daughter of Anthony N. Brady, has recovered the $25,000 worth of jewels which she lost in the Grand Central station here on last Friday. Mr. Brady today said that a trust company in New Haven had notified him of their recovery intact. The fireman, while passing through the Grand Central station Friday night, saw the satchel lying on one of the seats with no one near. He picked it up, and, as he had to take his train to New Haven, carried it along with him there. This morning the fireman went to a trust company in New Haven and had the jewel bag opened. When the contents became known, a clerk in the trust company, who had read the story of the loss, notified Mr. Brady by telephone.

Another Victory for the Women.

Score one more victory for the women. Positive instructions have been given by the New York City Railway Company that conductors must enforce a rule that there shall be no smoking on the rear platforms of closed cars. According to a formal notice to this effect, which has been posted in the various car barns, conductors who do not enforce the regulation will be suspended. This regulation has been theoretically in force for a long time, but has been largely disregarded. Some conductors, generally new men, have tried to enforce it, while many conductors have allowed it to fall into disuse. The non-enforcement of this regulation has not only had the effect of causing women to enter the cars through clouds of tobacco smoke, but has caused the rear platforms always to be crowded with men, even when there was "plenty of room up in front." With smoking prohibited, the rear platform will have less attraction.

Nips of New York News.

Jacob Wernes, at the marriage of his daughter, gave her 10 $1,000 bills. Use of cash saved bridegroom worrying whether the checks were good.

Two men were seriously hurt in the subway by the blowing out of a fuse in the block signal apparatus. In other words, safety appliances are sometimes dangerous.

"Tom" Watson threatens to say things about Grover Cleveland because the ex-president indorses Parker. But Watson cannot interrupt the fishing of the "Sage of Princeton."

Both sides in New York claim benefits as a result of the large registration. We can decide the controversy better next month.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Before you have been long in Greene county you will conclude that it is all right, or at least about as nearly right as any of them.

But if you happen to drop in while the county teachers' institute is in full blast you will see about as bright, good looking, and altogether as laudable a lot of teachers as can be shown by any other county in the state.

The institute held last week was one of the best ever; so good, in fact, that Supt. Stewart will have to hustle in order to keep the pace he has set. But then he is a hustler, and therefore liable to do even better next time.

The schools in this county are among the best in the state, which means superior teachers and efficient superintendent.

But why not have good ones, particularly when they are cheaper in the long run than poor ones? And then they have the facilities right here in Waynesburg for finishing them off in the best and most modern style.

The Waynesburg college is particularly well adapted for giving practical education to teachers; also to farmers' boys and girls, and to those who are ambitious to go to the great universities and colleges.

This institution appears to be flourishing finely, and there is no good reason why it will not flourish greater and greater as the years go by, for the material is here to work on and the money, too, which is a very important item.

* * * * *

One of the institute instructors—or was it Elbert Hubbard?—said it was the prettiest and sweetest bunch of teachers he had ever addressed.

So, if you want to see a most lovely, as well as a particularly lovable bunch of country school marms, just drop in on a Greene county institute sometime when it is in full blast.

And why shouldn't they be lovely and lovable? They have all the chances in the world to be both, for there is no more genial sunshine, no more healthful atmosphere and no better grub anywhere than just here among the hills. And there is enough work to keep everyone busy and out of mischief.

It is not work that spoils boys and girls and unfits them for good society and useful lives, but the want of it, or rather the ability to live without it. Those who feel that they don't have to work for a living may be compelled to change their minds sometime, and then they will wish they had been made to work instead of being allowed to sport around, living on the proceeds of gas and coal that had been sold at a good price.

Would you work if you didn't have to? And if you didn't have to work what would you do? Think it over.

* * * * *

Here and there through the county you see effects of the plentifulness of money that are rather surprising. Farms are being neglected because the owners do not have to work, their children drive around in buggies and carts and the farmers spend a good deal of time in town, waiting to hear the war news, discussing the railroad situation, or exchanging yarns with their neighbors.

Some of these have boys and girls enough at home to do the work, but you know the old saying: "When the cat's away the mice will play."

This condition of affairs is by no means peculiar to Greene county, for you find it everywhere, more or less, more where money is plentiful, less where it is scarcer and harder to get. Nor is it unnatural, for it is the disposition of the race to live as easily as possible.

In tropical and semi-tropical countries, where the ground yields bountifully without labor, men become very lazy and notably worthless. They don't have to labor that they may live, neither do they have to scheme and plan to bring trade to their towns and to furnish work for the people.

The people of the northern countries have to work in order to live, and that is the reason they are more highly developed than their tropical neighbors.

As you may have learned from your study of physical geography, or from general reading, the temperate zones lead in enterprise and in wealth, and practically rule the world.

* * * * *

Elbert Hubbard, of Aurora fame, was one of the first magnitude star lecturers in the institute course.

Yes, one of them, for there was Gunsaulus and Chandler and Gillilan, all in the first magnitude bunch. Gunsaulus did not show up, but his partner in the Peoples church pulpit, the Rev. Dr. Driver, was on hand and gave such a good talk that the disappointment was not keenly felt. In fact, some who have heard Gunsaulus say the people were the gainers by the exchange.

There was great anxiety to see Fera Elbertus, and those who have been reading "The Philistine" had their ears tossed up to hear a keen, swift sort of an address.

With a white sombrero, an overflow of necktie and the need of a hair cut, he caught the public eye and disappointed it some. He was picturesque enough to rivet every eye in town, and yet not loud nor extravagant, but nevertheless somewhat disappointing to those who had pictured his features as being as sharp as his wit.

But the swifter and harder kick came after he had done his stunt. If anything, his drawl was longer drawn out than usual and his mannerisms more pronounced.

After the show was over Hubbard was pronounced a disappointment by those who had listened attentively and had been entertained for a full hour and a half.

No doubt many were a good deal disappointed in the man and in his lecture, but rather agreeably so than otherwise. Anyway, they talked a lot more about him than if he had not disappointed them.

What's the good of a lecture that isn't talked about afterward, and the lecturer, too, for that matter?

Had Hubbard met the expectation of the people they would have passed along without comment. But he isn't that sort, but of the sort that would rather be kicked than not noticed at all. Nor is there good money in not being noticed. No doubt he will sell more stuff on the strength of this lecture and advertisement combined than if he had appeared in regulation togs and reeled off a regulation speech.

While spinning along on the narrow gauge railroad, Fero Elburtus showed signs of nervousness, and once inquired as to the chances for being ditched. But the scenic effects soon dispelled his qualms and fears. Scenic effects is right, for the road winds along one side of a ravine until you have seen enough, then crosses over and winds along the other side back nearly to where it was. In this way you get views of the scenery from both sides.

The ditches along the road are all that could be desired, being lined with bright colored autumn leaves and fringed with golden rod, tall grass and elder bushes. But for some reason the ditches haven't been much used, and not at all of late.

Supt. Bower is said to be responsible for the lack of ditching and dearth of thrilling news. And he looks just like a man who does not care a snap if the papers never get a display head out of his little road.

Greene county isn't a very good place to go hunting or fishing, unless you take ammunition and ban along. It is one of the prohibition counties, and has been for several years, and is likely to be for some years to come.

And yet, with all their experience, the people are divided on the license question. All agree that license would liven up the liquor business some, but a majority don't like that kind of business.

But it is said that no one has yet died for the want of a sup of liquor, either in Waynesburg or any other burg in the county.

The fact remains, however, that there is a whole lot less boozing than if there were saloons and legalized boozing places conveniently located. This being a college town, and there being plenty of money in the country districts, a few saloons would give the atmosphere a peculiar glow, no doubt.

Seeing that they are getting along quite well without license, it is not likely that the people will vote a change, lest they might make a bad mess of it. To open saloons in towns where none have been for a long time is almost certain to demoralize a whole lot of fellows who might think it great fun to drink, get full and paint things red.

There is a brewery in the town, but it appears to be in statu quo, so to speak. Maybe it isn't on tap at present.

Political Drift

William R. Hearst, despite the injunction issued by leader Charles F. Murphy that candidates who accepted nominations from Tammany must not run on the Populist ticket, has not declined the Pops' indorsement for congressman from New York city, as have Charles A. Towne, William Sulzer and M. F. Laughman. Mr. Murphy did not favor the renomination of Mr. Hearst and withdrew his opposition at the personal request of Judge Parker, who was anxious to harmonize all interests in the Democratic ranks in this city. Robert Baker of Brooklyn, who has been nominated by the Democrats for congress, and who was informed by the Populists that they would indorse him, has also failed to send a refusal to have his name appear on the Populist ticket.

This is what a prominent New York Republican says of the situation in his state:

"The growth in Republican prospects may be set down to the natural reaction from the strained situation of a few weeks ago. The Republican insurgents have blown off their steam and are beginning to settle down to the normal attitude. After the Saratoga convention there was a great deal of unrest, dissatisfaction and, perhaps, indignation. The Democrats had set up a great howl about Odellism. On top of that there was a wave of resentment against Odell's treatment of Senator Platt. But, after all, the latter was a sentimental proposition. Now, as to Odellism, the opposition having fired their biggest guns, they may have scored on Odell, but already the people are beginning to ask is Higgins a fair target?"

"The formality of the Wisconsin supreme court decision," says a special correspondent, "will not alter conditions in the least, although the stalwarts will undoubtedly use the dissenting opinion of Justice Cassoday as a campaign document. Justice Cassoday declares that the law has been misconstrued by his fellow justices; that the duty of the secretary of state in regard to the ticket was purely ministerial, and therefore subject to the control of the court. He says that if he was wrong on this point he would still dissent, on the ground that the state central committee which certified the LaFollette ticket was biased and prejudiced. He objected also to the power and authority ascribed to the state central committee, as in effect it deprived the voters of the fundamental and constitutional right of representation. The latter portion of the dissenting opinion will be regarded as valuable campaign matter by the stalwarts."

"In the presidential election of 1900," says the New York Tribune, "11 southern states, the backbone of 'the solid south,' elected 112 members of the electoral college with 1,880,715 votes. New York state, with 1,847,912 votes, elected only 36 members of the electoral college. With 300,000 fewer voters, New York was represented in the choice of a president by 76 fewer electors. Put it a little differently. Had New Yorkers had the same representation as the southern states—that is, one elector for each 16,786 voters—it would have been able to elect 92 members of the electoral college, instead of 36. Again, had the south had votes in the electoral college in the same proportion to the total number of voters as did New York, her total representation would have consisted of 43 electors instead of 112. To put it bluntly, it required the ballots of practically 43,000 New York Republicans to offset the votes of 16,700 southern Democrats, or the votes of 2½ New Yorkers to equal the vote of one southerner."

Says a Boston dispatch to the Washington Post: "A queer phase of the campaign has been brought out by the recent visit of Senator Crane to the president, and has resulted in the latter deciding that some of the national committee's funds be used for the congressional campaign in this state instead of for the presidential campaign. It is considered by both parties that the state will go Republican by 40,000 to 50,000 plurality and waste of money to spend national funds for presidential work here when some of their own number badly need funds to carry their districts. All the money collected by the state committee was turned over to Chairman Cortelyou and members have been trying to get some of it back in order to carry the doubtful districts. Senator Crane assured the president that one district, and probably two, could be gained by common Republican effort, and since every Republican in congress is needed, it is understood that the president saw the point and has arranged for the distribution of some of the funds for this purpose."

"Gov. Franklin Murphy of New Jersey and former United States Senator James Smith, Jr.," says the Washington Star, "are fighting for the 12 electoral votes of their state and for the control of the state government, which was for many years in the hands of the Democrats, and was only wrested from them after they had reached the zenith of their power and believed they had intrenched themselves beyond the possibilities of displacement after the election of 1892. Both are very big men in Newark. Both were born in the city where they live, and the skillful manipulation of each was the foundation of his political fortunes in the state. Both were members of the common council of Newark. Both contributed to the making of governors before they had become known in politics outside of their own localities. James Smith, Jr., reached the height of his political prominence through making a governor and then taking a United States senatorship that the governor he had made was after. Franklin Murphy reached the pinnacle of his party fame through making a United States senator and then contenting himself with accepting the governorship. They are both essentially business men in a large sense."

PARTY RULES TO BE AMENDED

Republican City Committee Will More Clearly Define Qualification of Voters.

MUST SUPPORT ALL TICKETS

Changes are to be made in the rules governing the Republican party in Pittsburgh. It is the general opinion that a man who would participate in a primary should have voted the national, state, county and municipal tickets. It is probable that at a meeting of the city committee, to be held on the night of November 3, the rules will be so amended.

The way for the amendment of the rules was paved at a meeting of the city committee, held at the Grant street headquarters last night. A proposition was made to repeal all of rule nine. This part of the party's law provides: "That all amendments must be presented at a meeting of the city committee and shall be voted upon at a succeeding meeting to be held not less than 10 days thereafter; that notice shall be given the committeemen and that the proposed amendments shall be printed in at least two Republican newspapers, and that the amendments shall not be adopted unless they receive the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members present." By the repeal of this rule, the committee will be free to make any amendment it seems wise.

Committee on Revision.

The resolution providing for the repeal of rule nine was presented by W. A. Larimer of the Twenty-fourth ward. It will come up for action on November 3. At the same meeting a committee of seven named to revise the rules will make its report. This committee was created by a resolution offered by F. C. Beinhauer, Chairman Leslie named on the committee Mr. Beinhauer, W. M. Benham, Adolph Edlis, J. P. Hunter, A. C. Gumbert, John Golden and W. A. Larimer.

There was some discussion over a motion made by Senator W. A. Magee to have the report of the committee on rules published five days previous to the meeting. Chairman Leslie said that it would be difficult for the committee to make an intelligent report in the limited time. Senator Magee got the impression that there was a disposition to conceal the amendments until they were brought before the committee for action. He and Chairman Leslie made several speeches, but the matter finally was straightened out by the adoption of a motion to send the report of the committee to each member of the city committee three days previous to the meeting. This will give plenty of time to digest the proposed changes. There will probably be a good many of them.

An Old-Fashioned Night.

An old fashioned campaign night, with red fire, torches, Roman candles and the usual accompaniments is on the program for Pittsburgh for Saturday, November 5.

Secretary Charles A. Muehlbronner of the Republican county committee, said last night:

"Nothing proposed in this campaign has proved so popular as the proposed parade of all the Republican clubs on November 5. Since I sent out a few notices of it last Saturday night and the newspapers announced the arrangement, I have been simply overwhelmed with calls in person and by telephone from those who approve the demonstration and wish to participate in making it a success. We wish to avoid delaying the mass meeting to be held the same night, and for that reason will ask the clubs to escort the speakers to the hall before the general parade on the downtown streets begins."

Officers and representatives of all the Republican clubs in Pittsburgh, whether they have or have not received written notices to that effect, are requested to meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Republican headquarters, 416 Grant street, with W. J. Mus'in, W. G. Gill and L. L. Davis, of the Republican county campaign committee, and Secretary Muehlbronner, to arrange for the parade and demonstration.

Meetings This Week.

But all the oratory is not to be postponed until next week. Meetings with speakers of ability will be held in the wards, boroughs and townships this week. The greatest of these will be the South Side and McKeesport mass meetings Thursday and Friday evenings. The South Side mass meeting evening is to be held in Odd Fellows hall, Sa ah and South Eighteenth stree s, with Dr. John D. Carr, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, Robe t K. Aiken of Newcastle and Josiah Cohen as the speakers.

The McKeesport mass meeting will be held in White's opera house Friday evening. Senator John S. Fisher of Indiana was yesterday secured as one of the speakers, and with Congressman John Dalzell, W. H. Coleman and S. D. Oliver, will speak on the issues of the campaign.

AN INCOME FOR LIFE.

Widow and Orphans Amply Provided for by the Forethought of Husband and Father.

Two prominent Pittsburghers died a short time ago and a few days later the Equitable Life Assurance Society, through its Pittsburgh agency, settled upon the widow of one an annuity of $300 a year for life, and upon the daughters of the other annuities of $1,700 a year each for 25 years. Estates left in this way can never depreciate in value or be lost in unwise investment. It is provision for loved ones that absolutely provides.

CUPID TRIUMPHS OVER LOVER'S QUALMS

Briegroom Returns to Claim Sweetheart He Deserted on Eve of Wedding.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Cupid has triumphed over the bashfulness of Sylvester C. C. Williams, the diffident young lover, who faded away on the eve of his marriage to Miss Gwenthilen Vaughan, because he was ashamed to face the guests who were invited to the wedding.

Williams returned to Harrisburg today and arranged everything with his sweetheart and her family, after which he obtained a marriage license and was quietly married by the Rev. B. H. Hart, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist church.

Williams is employed in the Pennsylvania railroad shops at Altoona and he and his bride will reside in that city. They were to have been married October 4, and the girl's family made preparations for an elaborate wedding. Williams then sent Miss Vaughan a note that it could not take place. He left the city and nothing was heard of him until he returned to claim his temporarily deserted sweetheart.

Championed Russia's Cause.

Prof. Hunter of the Western university delivered an address last night in Wilkinsburg, his subject being "Russia." The lecture was given under the auspices of the Oxford club of the Methodist Episcopal church, and was well attended. Prof. Hunter's lecture presented the Russian side of the controversy with Japan and facts were adduced to prove that the czar and his countrymen are really in the right in the various positions which they have assumed.

POLICE CAPTAIN TEETERS' FUNERAL WAS AN IMPRESSIVE EVENT

The remains of Capt. Albert M. Teeters of the bureau of police, who was shot and killed accidentally by Lieut. Welsh as they were practicing at the pistol range in the Frankstown avenue police station early last Saturday morning, were buried in Homewood cemetery yesterday afternoon. Services were conducted over the remains at Teeters' late home in Hastings street by the Rev. W. P. Sachs, pastor of St. Andrew's Lutheran church, Shadyside. The remains were escorted to the cemetery by 200 policemen and a number of members of the veteran corps of the Fourteenth regiment, of which Teeters was formerly a sergeant. The procession was headed by the Fourteenth regiment band. Five police inspectors also attended the funeral, the police being in charge of Assistant Superintendent Kennelly. Many floral pieces were received from the police. The illustration shows the casket being borne down Hastings street between saluting columns of police, the inspectors standing at the head of the line on the right.

SCRANTON, Oct. 24.—Joseph Keltsch, who yesterday became insane in St. Mary's German Catholic church because he thought his prayers for the cure of almost total blindness had been heard, escaped from home this morning and again went to the church, where he cried aloud before the statue of the Blessed Virgin and threw gold and other coin at it, to the consternation of other worshipers.

Keltsch was locked up by the police and in the station house bombarded the officers with gold, silver and bills. When the bombardment was over the officers gathered up $510, which he had concealed on his person when arrested.

A. M. E. CHURCH FIGHT BRINGS TWO BISHOPS

Lee Faction Will Take Bethel Trouble to Courts for Settlement.

The trouble in the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal congregation will result in the arrival of two bishops of the church in Pittsburgh tonight. Bishop W. P. Derrick comes at the request of the friends of the Rev. W. S. Lowry, who was recently appointed to the pastorate by this same bishop, and Bishop H. M. Turner has been summoned by the adherents of the Rev. I. S. Lee, who was transferred from the pastorship of the church to Wheeling, and for whose retention a faction of the congregation is fighting.

When the Bethel and African congregations were merged 10 years ago and entered the African Methodist Episcopal denomination, it was specifically arranged that the Bethel congregation, while accepting any minister assigned by a bishop, should retain its control of the Avery fund, which amounts to several hundred thousands of dollars, the income of $5,000 or $6,000 being divided among different church institutions. The prestige of this fund and the good salary given the pastor makes the pastorate a place eagerly sought.

The removal of the Rev. Mr. Lee is ascribed somewhat to the influence of jealous ministers of the church, who resented his securing a conference plum, when a newcomer in the conference. The Rev. Mr. Lee's strict audit of the Avery fund has endeared him to the original Bethel membership and their friends in the church, who wish him to remain as pastor, so as to insure control of the fund.

The Lowry people have possession of the church property. The Lee faction will raise money to carry the fight into court.

SECRETARY SHAW TALKS OF EXPENSES

He Replies to Judge Parker on Question of Government's Financial Policy.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw addressed a large meeting at New Rochelle tonight. The secretary said in part:

Judge Parker proves too much. In his speech of last Friday, to a delegation from Hudson county, N. J., the distinguished jurist candidate quotes with approval the estimate of Edward Atkinson that the Philippine islands have cost us to date $1,200,000,000.

The aggregate expenditure during the last seven years, including every direct and indirect expense of the Spanish war, is in round numbers $4,404,000,000. This sum includes $840,000,000 expended in public buildings, river and harbor improvements, navy and navy yards; $50,000,000 for the isthmian right-of-way, and $853,000,000, the cost of the postal service for seven years, and, according to Mr. Atkinson and Judge Parker, $1,200,000,000, the cost of the Philippine islands. Deducting the aggregate of these amounts, $2,443,000,000, we find the total of seven years of Republican administration, exclusive of betterments and the postal service, expenses of the Philippine islands, but including the Spanish war, $1,911,000,000, or an average of $280,000,000 per annum.

BRYAN HAS DESERTED HIS FIRST LOVE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HAMILTON, O., Oct. 24.—William Jennings Bryan tonight ended his tour of Ohio for the Democratic national ticket with a speech in Hamilton. There were many persons present at most of the 21 towns where Mr. Bryan spoke today and he was enthusiastically welcomed.

The speech-making in Ohio began at Bridgeport, but Mr. Bryan made a speech at Wheeling, W. Va., before his visit at Bridgeport. It was 9 o'clock when Hamilton was reached, but thousands of persons were present to greet him. Occupants of a special train of 12 coaches from Dayton were among the crowd. There were excursions also from Eaton, Middletown, Oxford and other points.

Mr. Bryan reviewed his speeches of the day, embracing the national issues. After his address tonight Mr. Bryan left for Toledo, where he is due tomorrow morning.

After leaving Bucyrus four speeches were made Monday and remarks being devoted largely to imperialism. "The money question," he asserted, "is insignificant in comparison, when weighed in the balance with the question of human rights."

BODY OF ITALIAN FOUND.

Men Last Seen With Him Gone to Italy. Consul in Pittsburgh Is Notified.

GREENSBURG, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—Antonio Chinogo tonight identified the body of an Italian found in a thicket east of here as that of Vincenzo Dipofio. He told Coroner Charles A. Wynn that one night in May Dipofio and Giovanni and Frank Difio started to Jeannette. The Difio brothers returned to Greensburg the next day without Dipofio, saying he had laid down along the road to rest. He was not seen afterward and the Difio brothers went to Italy, probably to Ceccino, their old home. Dipofio had nearly $300 the night he left Greensburg.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

MOFFAT DEPLORES STUDENTS' COURSE

Freshmen Decide Against Classical, Which Means None Will Enter Ministry.

LAST SESSION OF THE SYNOD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OXFORD, Oct. 24.—The Rev. Dr. J. D. Moffat, president of Washington and Jefferson college, entertained the Pennsylvania synod at its closing session today. No report was presented in behalf of the college and the president occupied the time. He lamented the fact that over one-half of the membership of the present freshman class refused to enter the regular classical course, choosing the Latin scientific. This, he said, did not speak well for an increase of students for the ministry.

The synod decided that hereafter the annual sessions should begin Thursday night instead of Thursday morning. The Rev. Dr. E. S. Wallace of Greensburg was appointed chairman of the committee of arrangements for next year. The closing session was occupied largely in gathering up remnants of business and the commissioners left for their homes on the afternoon train. Only 67 commissioners answered to the final roll call.

SPOKE ON TEMPERANCE.

Former Prohibition Presidential Candidate Addressed Ministers—Methodist Episcopal Pastors Elected Officers.

The Rev. John G. Woolley, former candidate for president on the Prohibition ticket, addressed the Methodist Episcopal Ministerial association yesterday morning on "Temperance." Previous to the address a general discussion on recent pulpit changes took place. The annual election of officers resulted as follows: President, the Rev. J. B. Risk, D. D.; vice president, J. G. Schall; secretary and treasurer, the Rev. William Law; chorister, the Rev. George Orbun; executive committee, the Rev. George H. Flinn, Ph. D., the Rev. E. L. Eaton, D. D., and the Rev. G. W. Grannis.

John W. Beer of the board of home missions addressed the Presbyterian clergymen. The Rev. W. H. Vincent, D. D., of Youngstown, spoke to the United Presbyterian pastors on "Expository Preaching." The Rev. J. C. Carpenter of Eldersville read a paper on "Modern Spiritualism" before the Methodist Protestant meeting.

Baptist ministers discussed the effect of reading popular books, which brought forth animated argument. The Rev. W. S. Holland of Tarentum followed with a paper on "Divine Eminence," and the Rev. H. Sprague, D. D., a Cuban missionary, spoke on mission work on that island.

The Lutheran ministers were addressed by the Rev. C. P. Wiles on "Spurgeon as a Preacher" and concluded their session by recommending the appointment of five laymen to act with the association in further affiliation with the Sunday observance movement.

MINISTERS MAY REORGANIZE.

Effort to Be Made to Re-Establish the Beaver Valley Association.

Efforts are being made to reorganize the Beaver Valley Ministerial association. The Rev. Dr. Arthur Staples, president of Beaver college, was here yesterday, and stated that he would tender an invitation to the ministers of the valley to meet in the college early next week, when the proposition to reorganize will be made.

The former organization met socially and discussed papers, but conflicted in no way with the ministerial associations of Pittsburgh, of which the ministers were also members.

May Call Denver Pastor.

The Rev. Dr. J. G. Kennedy of Denver occupied the pulpit of the Fifth United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, last night, and will continue to conduct services nightly throughout the week. While the purpose of the all-week session has not been announced, it is said the congregation has decided to tender Dr. Kennedy a call, the pulpit being vacant since the resignation of the Rev. Dr. J. W. Witherspoon.

CLAIM THE BODY OFFERED WAS NOT THEIR FATHER'S

Thomas J. Houston and His Sister of Verona Promise Trouble for Woodville Hospital.

Thomas J. Houston, chief of police of Verona, and his sister, are demanding an investigation of affairs at the Allegheny county insane hospital at Woodville. They have retained Attorney A. M. Lee and propose to have what they claim is a bad case of mismanagement, aired in court.

The father of the Houstons, John Houston, was committed to Dixmont hospital for the insane in 1878. In 1900 he was removed to Woodville, the Dixmont hospital having become overcrowded and the county having arranged to care for its own insane at the county home. Last August the old man died. Dr. J. L. Srode, a medical officer at the hospital, said last evening that when Houston's death occurred he called the Dixmont authorities up on the telephone and asked for some particulars concerning the old man's friends, Dixmont not having furnished anything of the kind at the time Houston was sent to Woodville. The management at Dixmont reported that the family lived at Verona. It is said that a telegram was sent to that place by the Woodville authorities, but later it is said to have been returned with the statement from the telegraph company that no Houston was known there.

The body of the old man was buried, although the authorities are expected to turn unclaimed bodies over to the Anatomical society. In this case, however, Dr. Srodes thought friends of the dead man would appear and it would be better to hold the remains at Woodville.

Last week Houston's daughter went to visit him and was informed he was dead. The Houstons wanted to take the body to Verona for burial. It was lifted last Saturday. When the coffin was opened Houston alleged that the body was not that of his father. His father was an old man, with white hair and no teeth. The body exhumed was, according to the son's statement, that of a young man with black hair and full set of teeth.

Dr. Srodes says this story is ridiculous. He says he knew old man Houston well and the body buried at Woodville and exhumed there last Saturday, was that of Houston. There have only been about four burials at the home this past year and he offered to open the graves of all to prove to the Houstons that they had the right corpse.

BISHOP'S WOOING WAS TOO STRENUOUS FOR ANNIE

The wooing of Albert Bishop was of too strenuous a nature to suit Annie Jecus, a middle-aged German woman, who appeared against Bishop at Central station yesterday morning. The woman said Bishop wanted to marry her, but that she had declined. Sunday, according to the woman's story, Bishop, who boarded at her house, threatened to shoot her. In explanation Bishop said he was only having some fun. "I did think of marrying Annie," he said, "but she is too old." He said the revolver had nothing in it but blank cartridges, but Magistrate Stewart was not satisfied and fined him $15 and costs or 20 days in jail.

Dispute Over Stock Transaction.

Frank Adams and S. M. Oment, of the Interstate Commercial Company, had a hearing before Alderman Groetzinger yesterday on a charge of embezzlement made by H. C. Zimmerly, manager of the Keystone Stock Company. Both concerns are located in the Keystone bank building. Zimmerly alleges he left an order with the Interstate company to purchase 20 shares of United States Steel preferred for his company. Later when he wanted the stock he was told that it had been disposed of as the margin given had been eaten up. Zimmerly claims the two concerns had a working agreement which would prevent the Interstate company from selling the stock. Alderman Groetzinger reserved his decision.

One Scale for Structural Men.

NO BONDS FOR WESTINGHOUSE

Head of Company States There Had Been No Consideration of the Issue.

DEBENTURES EXCEL STOCK

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.

George Westinghouse said today, in regard to the reported issue of first mortgage bonds by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, that there had been no consideration of the issue of first mortgage bonds; the retirement of the preferred stock, or of the outstanding debentures, or any of the other details mentioned.

In view of the large increase in the company's business, which will follow the introduction of the single phase system toward the operation of steam and interurban railways, the continued growth in the volume of sales of other standard lines of electrical apparatus, and the desirability of providing working capital for such largely increased business, there has been created by appropriate action of the board in accordance with a report of a committee of directors, an issue of debentures which can be retired from the sale of investment securities or earnings in lieu of a further increase of fixed capitalization.

The committee of directors, consisting of Brayton Ives, George Westinghouse and George C. Smith, appointed to consider and report upon a comprehensive plan covering the requirements of the company for a period of years, reports that it is a wise and conservative measure to provide additional capital in the form of an issue of debentures, which can be retired, rather than by a permanent increase of capital stock, such debentures to be disposed of at the discretion of the board, at such times and in such amounts not exceeding a reasonable aggregate as will meet best the company's capital requirements.

WESTINGHOUSE CONCERNS AWARDED MANY PRIZES

St. Louis World's Fair Adds Fresh Laurels to the Many Lines of Pittsburgh Manufactures.

The bureau of awards of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, St. Louis, yesterday completed the work of distributing prizes among the exhibitors. From information thus far received it appears that while the city of Pittsburgh has received the largest number of awards among any of the industrial cities of the world, the Westinghouse companies have received a larger number of medals and awards than any other individual concern. The Westinghouse companies received 12 grand prizes as follows: For alternating current generators and motors, for alternating current turbo-generator installation, for static transformers and rotary converters, for direct current generators and motors, for electric railway motors, for alternating current and direct current control systems, for single and multiple unit operation, for mining and industrial locomotives, for horizontal gas engines and steam turbines, for airbrakes and friction draft gears, for brakes for electric cars, for airbrakes and accessories, for signal systems, and for development of mercury vapor lights.

The gold medals the Westinghouse companies received are as follows: For complete switchboard for alternating and direct current, for Bremer arc lamps and arc lighting system, for Nernst lamps, for Cooper-Hewitt lamps for photo-engraving, for water and gas meters, for electric measuring instruments, for the industrial betterment work for housing the working class.

Silver medals were awarded for Sawyer-Man incandescent lamp and for Bryant electric fittings. Bronze medals were awarded for gasoline automobile and for Perkins fuse switchboard and wiring appliances.

Above all, however, the Westinghouse companies received a special award in the department of machinery for the best, most complete and most attractive exhibit. This special award refers to the electric lighting plant which the company installed and which lights the entire world's fair, to the immense turbines, to the large electric generators, to the theater and to the booths representing all the Westinghouse companies in the various countries of the world.

PAUR BEGINS REHEARSALS OF PITTSBURGH ORCHESTRA

First Meeting of Musicians at Carnegie Music Hall Augurs a Successful Season in This City.

The initial rehearsal of the Pittsburgh orchestra was held yesterday morning in Carnegie Music hall. Emil Paur, the new director, was introduced to the players by Manager G. Wilson and hearty applause greeted him as he stepped on the platform. Little time was wasted in formalities. Conductor Paur took up his work in systematic order and when he had finished his task he congratulated his musicians and asked their loyal cooperation in promoting the work of the organization.

Among the new players in the orchestra are Carl Preusse, first horn player; Wenzel Jiskra, first bass player; Herman Beyer-Hane, principal 'cello player, and Fred d'Angelus, of Messrs. d'Angelus and Beyer-Hane. Carl Preusse, the first horn player, comes direct from Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany. He is Mr. Paur's personal selection for the place, there being no available first horn player in the United States.

The gentlemen in the back row of the orchestra which James Whitcomb Riley calls the "little tin shop," perhaps the most admired group in the orchestra, as oftentimes they are the most strenuous, are William Reitz, drums; Richard Donati, percussion instruments, and E. Desenfans, tympani. Mr. Desenfans was a member of the Pittsburgh Orchestra four years ago, since which time he has been engaged with the best European orchestras. In many respects he is the finest tympani player now in the United States.

Mr. Paur will hold daily forenoon rehearsals for the next ten days. The subscribers' sale for afternoon and students' tickets goes on until Wednesday night and all who have subscribed and have not secured their seats are asked to go to Hamilton's before that time. Beginning on Thursday morning the sale of both evening and afternoon season seats at the different prices opens at Hamilton's to the public, when no subscription coupon is required.

Anniversary of Branch 123, C. M. B. A.

Branch 123, Catholic Mutual Benefit association, will celebrate its fifteenth anniversary next Tuesday night with a reception at Kenwood lawn, East End. A fine program has been arranged for those who dance; for those who prefer euchre, an elaborate list of prizes will be offered, a diamond pin being the first gentleman's prize, while for the ladies an appropriate prize of even more intrinsic value is provided. A committee, comprising many names well known in the business and professional world has charge of the affair.

"The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write to you for advice."—(Signed) MRS. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley st. (Roxbury), Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Hayes' Second Letter:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman.

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) MRS. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley St. (Roxbury), Boston, Mass.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the manner of constructing the sidewalks on McClure avenue, Ninth and Eleventh wards, from the east curb line of Preble avenue eastwardly, to an angle at Eckert street, shall be as follows: Beginning on the east curb line of Preble avenue, the sidewalks shall have the normal elevation of six (6) inches above the gutter at the curb line; thence running eastwardly the elevation of the said sidewalks shall gradually increase for a distance of one hundred and seven (107) feet, at which point the elevation shall be twenty-two (22) inches above the gutter; thence still eastwardly said sidewalks shall maintain a uniform elevation of twenty-two (22) inches for a distance of one hundred and twenty-two (122) feet; thence said elevation shall gradually decrease for a distance of one hundred and ninety-seven (197) feet, at which point said sidewalks shall reach the normal elevation of six (6) inches.

Address Side of Envelope in Which Mr. Dewey Enclosed a Check for Mr. Strayer.

Edward W. Dewey of Brady's Bend, president of the Allegheny River Improvement association, sent to L. W. Strayer, in charge of the Washington bureau of The Gazette a letter enclosing a check for $5—fac-similes of the envelope, check and letter appearing herewith—and a set of resolutions laudatory of Maj. W. L. Sibert, adopted by the association.

Mr. Strayer promptly sent the letter to the home office of The Gazette. It will be noted that while in his letter Mr. Dewey does not connect Mr. Strayer with The Gazette, the envelope is addressed to him as of "The Pittsburgh Gazette, Washington, D. C.," thus showing that it was intended for Mr. Strayer of The Gazette. Up to this date the resolutions enclosed have not reached The Gazette; had they done so they would have received the attention always given the deliberations of any body on an important public matter. If Mr. Dewey thought it was easier to secure publication through the Washington bureau of The Gazette by means of a check rather than by sending the document to the Pittsburgh office he failed of his purpose.

About the only interesting fact disclosed in Mr. Dewey's letter is that he for the past year has been the sole financial support of the Allegheny River Improvement association. Apparently the methods of that association do not appeal to popular support.

Washington, D. C.

My dear Sir:-

As you know, the attack upon Major W. L. Sibert of Pittsburg by the Bridge and Railroad interests at that place culminated in a petition to the War Dept. by the attorneys for the above mentioned interests to have the Major. The petition was published simultaneously in all the Daily papers that would receive it and has been a great injury to the Major The Allegheny Valley Improvement Association held a meeting yesterday in Kittanning and the following enclosed resolutions were adopted and forward to the Secretary of War. We would appreciate your making a News Item of it and have it inserted in such papers as you can place it. I enclose my cheque for $5.00 which is little enough, but there hasnt been a dollar subscribed to the River improvement Association for a year and it all comes out of my personal pocket. My appreciation of Major Siberts work for the Allegheny River; his unswerving devotion to his duty as he sees it, knowing that these attacks would be made, as he was threatened many times they would have him removed; all these considerations lead us to believe that the removal of Major Sibert would cause us great loss as he is the best m we have ever had here. There is no subject that the Pittsburg and the Allegheny Valley people are so much interested in as the problem of the raising of the Pittsburg bridges. Do what you can for us.

Yours Very Truly, Edward W. Dewey.

MURPHY TALKS ON STREET CARS

General Superintendent of Pittsburgh Railways Co. Stirred by Complaints Over Service.

DISAGREES WITH OTHERS

Just what value the Grant boulevard line, a start on the construction of which has been made, will possess for the Pittsburgh Railways Company seems to be a subject for a difference of opinion. President J. H. Reed of the Philadelphia Company, which owns the street car concern, in yesterday's Gazette said he expected to see in the new line better conditions of travel. John Murphy, general superintendent of the street car company, says:

"The Grant boulevard line is not worth a snap to the Pittsburgh Railways Company. I am speaking from an operator's point of view."

"Would it not relieve the other lines?" he was asked.

"The traffic can be handled on the other lines as it is now. The boulevard is not shorter or more level than the other routes east," he said.

Mr. Murphy is in disagreement also with his superiors, the executive officials of the company, regarding the location of the ownership of the Philadelphia Company. It has been officially stated that within the past few weeks, as well as repeatedly within the year, that the big majority of the stock of the Philadelphia Company is held in the east, mainly in Philadelphia and Baltimore, but the general superintendent takes another view.

Says Pittsburgh Owns Company.

"There is only a small portion of the stock of the company held in Philadelphia," said Mr. Murphy; "the rumors circulated that the eastern capitalists were buying up the stock is all newspaper talk. The bulk of it is right here in Pittsburgh, and it will stay here. Several days ago 1,500 shares were sold in the east, but what does this amount to as against the several hundred thousand shares of the company?"

Among the other statements by General Superintendent Murphy was the following:

"There are more street cars running now, and oftener, than ever before in the history of Pittsburgh. The service is better on all the lines than it ever was before. Compared with other large cities of the country the street railway service in Pittsburgh surpasses them all in excellence."

Another statement made by Murphy was something like this: "And what I want people to understand is that I am running the Pittsburgh Railways Company. The newspapers can take up the false and malicious rumor about my being deposed as general superintendent, alleged to have come from Philadelphia, if they want to."

Those who now-a-days have to wait on cars longer than ever before and who know of a score or more of crews being laid off and no others put in their places, will be much interested in Murphy's statements that more cars are running and oftener, than ever before in the history of Pittsburgh.

Alleghenians Complain.

Residents of Nunnery hill, Allegheny, held an indignation meeting some nights ago and appointed a committee to see President Callery of the Railways company to ask an explanation why the company is doing nothing to build the promised line up Henderson street from Federal street. This route is one of those covered in Allegheny by the Mellon franchises and the residents of the thickly populated Nunnery hill district cannot get relief unless the line is built. All attempts to secure action by the Pittsburgh Railways Company thus far have proved futile.

Residents of the Madison avenue, East street and West View districts in Allegheny deny the statement that as many cars are running on all the lines as ever ran. Fewer cars are run on the Madison avenue and its extension, the West View line, than in months. The time between the cars now is 10 minutes. Formerly it was five minutes. On both these lines the cars are crowded to suffocation, not only during the rush hours, but most of the hours between. Owing to the utter inability, for this reason, of the company to carry all the people who are willing to put up their nickels to ride during the rush hours, hundreds of these walk to their homes in Allegheny on portions of the lines mentioned. Much of this territory is within 30 minutes, or less, walking distance from the business section.

Will Make Some Improvement.

President Reed, of the Philadelphia company, made a clear statement last evening of the future outlook in traction affairs here. He said that all the experience of city street railways indicates that there is no hope of any company being able to meet demand for seats on cars from the downtown section to the outlying residence sections at the rush hours in the evening, or in the opposite direction in the morning. This is due, he says, to the fact that thousands of persons are homeward bound at the same time and that no amount of preaching will keep them from all trying to ride on the first car.

That the general Pittsburgh traction situation is to be improved he is confident. Even in the present condition of congestion he finds only an evidence of the returning prosperity of this sections industries.

A year or more ago, before the panic came, our cars were over-crowded and the erection of the power plant at Brunots Island, to meet the increased demands, was started," he said. "This work has advanced steadily and is now nearing completion. Before it was finished, however, we have passed through a stage in our industrial situation that has reduced street car patronage so greatly that not even our old power capacity was taxed to meet it. Last spring and summer there was no overcrowding of cars except in the inevitable rush hours. The fare registers in the cars shows a decrease of about 20 per cent in the number of passengers carried and with that decrease we reduced, of course, the number of cars supplied to meet the demands.

More Power Means More Cars.

"Now things are changing again. The mills and other industries are resuming. Men are riding to and from their work again and our business is increasing very satisfactorily. One unit in the Brunots island plant has been put into service and has improved conditions on the South Side, both in traction and in street lighting noticeably. Inside of six weeks I am hopeful of the rest of the plant being finished and then we can add the extra cars that are demanded by the increased business.

"The company is doing its best to meet the situation, but it takes time to carry out plans of such magnitude."

The final decree perpetually enjoining the city of Pittsburgh from collection of the license tax from the Pittsburgh Railways Company was made yesterday by common pleas court No. 2. This settles in that court the equity suit of the street car company against the city and E. J. Frauenheim, city treasurer when the suit was entered.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH.

When Dr. A. J. Barchfeld takes his seat in the next congress as the representative of the Thirty-second district, he will introduce a bill creating the national department of health. His plan has the approval of many medical societies.

"We have no department in our national government," said Dr. Barchfeld yesterday, "that cares for the health of the people. The state laws are inadequate. When contagion breaks out we should have some method of promptly stamping out the disease. The government is wealthy enough to sustain such a department. There should be a representative of the government stationed in every community to act when the occasion demands."

FOUND UNDER FLY-WHEEL.

Northside Police are Investigating Mysterious Injury of Man in Allegheny General Hospital.

George Frank of Belmont street, Allegheny, is in the Allegheny General hospital, suffering, it is thought, with a broken back. He was found shortly after 7 o'clock last night in the bottom of a fly-wheel pit in Lindsay & McCutcheon's mill, Rebecca street. Before losing consciousness he told the hospital physicians he had fallen into the pit.

The physicians are inclined to think he is suffering from poisoning in addition to his injuries. No one about the mill seems to know anything of how Frank sustained his injuries, and because of an element of mystery about it the police are making an investigation. There is little chance of the man's recovery.

INSPECT TWO BUILDINGS.

Engineers See Through Bessemer Skyscraper and Gayety Theater.

About 250 members of the Engineers' society last night inspected the Bessemer building, at Sixth street and Duquesne way, and the new Gayety theater structure. The model engineering arrangements of both these buildings won from the party close attention. David T. Layman, assistant superintendent of the Bessemer building, conducted the party through that structure and the Phipps power plant adjoining.

Manager James E. Orr of the Gayety theater explained the details of construction there, all except the furniture being of concrete and steel.

OVATION TO PARKER IN NEW YORK THEATER

The Judge Makes a Speech in Which He Rebukes the Administration.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Judge Parker was the center tonight of the most enthusiastic demonstration that has greeted him in his campaign for the presidency. As the guest of the Tammany leaders of the East Side, the Democratic candidate for president and William Travers Jerome, the district attorney, attended the performance at the Grand street theater, and later a dinner at an East Side restaurant nearby.

The candidate had not intended to come to New York until tomorrow, but upon receiving a pressing invitation from the Tammany leaders, Mr. Jerome and large business interests of the East Side, he consented to come today, although he spoke to a large delegation at his home in Esopus in the afternon.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Judge Parker today laid aside the issues usually discussed in national political contests and addressed a crowd of several hundred persons on the general topic of campaign practices and abuses. He rebuked the present administration for the part government officials are alleged to be taking in the campaign. He charged that the officers of the government are now practically chosen by a handful of corporate managers who contribute the assets of the corporations to keep the conduct of the government in the hands they consider best for their private interests.

GREAT HIT BY MRS. GILBERT.

New York Audience Wildly Enthusiastic Over Aged Actress and Her New Play.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—With the audience on its feet, cheering Mrs. Gilbert and singing as one chorus, "Auld Lang Syne," the curtain went down at the Lyceum theater tonight on the first performance of "Granny," the new play written for Mrs. Gilbert by Clyde Fitch. In every act the play was frequently interrupted by cheers and applause. The ovation accorded Mrs. Gilbert upon her first entrance was almost overwhelming and it was several minutes before she recovered sufficiently to go on with her lines.

At the end of the performance Mrs. Gilbert recited an epilogue written for her, and this was the signal for the noisy tribute, the like of which is rarely witnessed.

SAYS FRIEND WAS KILLED.

Report of Daring Hold-Up and Assault Near Kennywood Park.

Andrew Clinton of Braddock reported to the police of Munhall borough yesterday that John Porelinsky, also of Braddock, had been killed by negroes at Kennywood park Sunday night.

The two men had been visiting in Duquesne and started to walk home. At the park, Clinton says, three negroes attacked them. Clinton was rendered unconscious, so he says, and on recovery found he had been robbed of $31. His companion could not be found. Clinton reached home and was unable to leave his bed Sunday, but yesterday, finding his companion had not appeared, he started to search for him. The missing man had $80 on his person.

SUPPLY SHIP SCUTTLED AS ACT OF REVENGE

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The steamship Esperanza, which is due to sail from Barry, with provisions for the Russian Baltic fleet, was found today to be in a sinking condition, her hull having been pierced below the water line. The injury is not explained, but it must have been done today, and it is suggested locally that it is the wanton act of some man employed about the ship in resentment of the North sea incident.

Last year's score—
Kiski .....5—High School 5

Pittsburgh High school was given an inglorious setback in the race for the interscholastic football championship for this year yesterday afternoon, losing to the Kiskiminitas Springs school, 37 to 0. It was the largest score a Kiski eleven ever ran up on High school, and the result yesterday was totally unlooked for. Kiski had much the advantage of High school in weight and pace, but the High school boys fought back the fierce attacks with great courage. The disparity, however, was too great.

Kiski carried the ball over the goal line four times and three goals were kicked in the first half, and in the closing session two touchdowns were made and a beautiful goal from the field was executed by Kumler, the big tackle, who sent the ball through the bars from the 20-yard line.

Friendship park was well filled with school boys and girls who were out to root for their favorites, and the High school students made things hum for a while with their yells. The playing of their team, however, put a damper to, some extent, on their enthusiasm. High School started off strong, and for a while fought Kiski back toward its own goal line. Then twice in the second half runs by "Dunc" Worrell and Verner, the doughty left end, stirred up some excitement.

Used Poor Judgment.

The High school team, it is true, was considerably outweighed, but it acted like one that had had no coaching. The plays were not directed as they should have been, and frequently the runner with the ball ran back of the line before shooting through for a gain. High School lacked knowledge of the rudimentary elements of the game.

Dave Johns, at quarterback, used very poor judgment at times in directing the plays. Once, on the last down with the ball 25 yards from his goal, he tried to buck the ball through the line instead of kicking, and Kiski got it on downs. A touchdown resulted.

Umpire McDivitt was very severe on High school in his rulings. Four times in the first half he penalized Kiski for offside plays, each time imposing a loss of 15 yards. Kiski objected to the rulings.

Kiski, with its weight, was able to make spectacular plays, and it did more individual work, in most parts, than team efforts. "Judy" McGregor, right half, showed dashing form, and his hurdling was brilliant. He also bucked the line hard, as did Blaine McCreight, fullback. McCreight is huskily built, and he and Kumler waded through for big gains. Urling, too, was a dangerous man with the ball. None of the ends followed the ball better than E. Corbett, the center.

Worrell and Verner were the High school stars. Verner's tackling was the best done by High school, and runs around the end by him netted most of High school's gains.

McGregor Makes Long Runs.

McCreight scored the first touchdown 10 minutes after the kickoff. Kiski lost on downs and McAllister punted, but Urling ran it back to midfield. Line bucks took the ball to the 40-yard line, where McGregor got through and eluded D. Johns for a touchdown. On the kickoff McAllister fumbled the ball on the 20-yard line, and E. Corbett got it for Kiski. Kiski was staved off, but a 15-yard penalty sent it back again. High school found Kiski's left side of the line for gains, but elected to keep hammering away when a kick was in order. McCreight and Kumler, in two rushes, made a touchdown, Kumler going over. In this half McGregor made two pretty runs for 20 and 35 yards.

Early in the second half Kiski had the ball on the 20-yard line with the second down. The signal for a kick was given. Kumler came back from tackle. E. Corbett made a perfect pass to Kumler, who got it away before the High school forwards broke through. The ball sailed high in the air and between the cross beams. The play was so neat and perfect that the High school students joined in the cheering.

Al Blaine played part of the first half, but was forced to retire in favor of Pfeffer. Toward the close of the game Pfeffer and Francis Caughey got mixed up in a fist fight, and it was some time before order was restored. Caughey took Kuona's place at the start of the second half. The lineup:

Kiski—37.		Pittsburgh H. S.—0.

GAME ON BLUFF.

East Liberty to Play Sophomores—Game Being Arranged With Allegheny Preps.

The East Liberty academy eleven will play the Pittsburgh college sophomores this afternoon on the college campus. The college team is playing good football and expects to win this afternoon. East Liberty lost to the sophs last year 16 to 0. Thus far the sophs have not been scored on.

The Allegheny Preparatory school, champions of Allegheny, will probably play East Liberty November 12 at Exposition park.

McClelland Doing Hard Work.

Jack McClelland yesterday got down to real hard training for his fight with Benny Yanger, which is to take place at St. Louis one week from Thursday next. Paul Moore, Joe Alton and Tommy Trimble are assisting him to get in condition. This fight is attracting attention all over the country, and the result will be watched with interest in this city, as McClelland is the only Pittsburgh fighter who has gained a national reputation. Jimmy Briggs, the Boston fighter, who wants to meet McClelland, made short work of Martin Flaherty the other night near Boston by knocking him out in seven rounds.

Arch Williams is Optimistic.

Capt. Arch Williams of the Shadyside academy eleven was on the side lines during the High school game. The fact that Kiski was running away from High school did not worry him in the least. Shadyside will play Kiski November 12 at Saltsburg and Williams cannot see where Kiski will pierce the Shadyside defense. Williams and all the other Shadyside players think they will beat Kiski. An effort is being made to have Kiski play Shadyside in Pittsburgh instead of at Saltsburg.

Ready for Their Fight.

SHARON, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—Everything is in readiness for the 12-round boxing bout between Young Kid McCoy of St. Louis and Jimmy Dunn of New Castle, at South Sharon this evening. The men weighed in at 124 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon and both claim to be below that figure. New Castle sports strongly favor Dunn, while Sharon and Youngstown fight followers look upon Young McCoy as a sure winner. Two preliminaries will precede the main bout.

The Care of the Body.

Good health is the most valuable asset one can have. Hence too much attention cannot be paid to the care of the body. Formerly internal treatment was supposed to be everything. Now every educated man or woman knows that the treatment of the outside is equally important. Ablutions, massage, etc., are of course helpful, but even these avail little without the co-operation of right underwear.

Now, instinct teaches us, especially upon the approach of cold weather, that the right underwear is woolen, and science teaches us that the purity and texture should be that of the famous Jaeger brand—an underwear which gives the best protection possible against the severities of our American winters.—(N. MOVE MADE BY W. U. P. PROVES VERY POPULAR

Football Is Now on the Boom and Rest of Games Will Likely Be Played Before Large Crowds.

Western university athletic stock is booming. The reports still coming in from Saturday's doings, both here and at Beaver, are all favorable to the old institution, and Coach Mosse could get a vote of confidence much quicker today than he could have done a week ago.

When it was proposed last week to give W. and J. and State the use of Exposition park last Saturday upon the promise of the W. and J. manager that he would do his best to induce the Washington college to play W. U. P. a game here this season, there was a howl of indignation from the local students. Coach Mosse was confined to his bed, but with the aid of Capt. Joe Thompson and the hustlers of the athletic committee, he managed to push through his own plan, and today Western university is prepared to admit that the move was the best that could have been made.

"In the first place," says a W. U. P. man, "it put W. and J. under lasting obligation to W. U. P., for without the consent of the local university the State-W. and J. game could not have been played on a regulation field, and they would have been driven to a smaller park which could not have accommodated more than one-half of the big crowd that poured into Exposition park last Saturday. W. U. P. got a large slice of the receipts as rental. Then the game at Beaver did more to arouse college spirit among the W. U. P. students than anything else that has happened this year. The Wups went to Beaver on a special train. They had their own band and the music promoted good fellowship. The trip was long enough for the students of the various departments to become acquainted with each other."

Capt. Joe Thompson gave the Western university team a warning before the players left the training house yesterday afternoon to take a turn at practice at Exposition park for the game with Susquehanna on Wednesday. Thompson was not entirely pleased with the Geneva game. He made allowance for the absence of some of the W. U. P. players and for the fact that the second half was shortened, but claimed that if the W. U. P. team work had been smooth a much larger score could have been piled up. He urged the players yesterday to assist him in getting the machinery running better this week. He cautioned them against overconfidence in the game Wednesday.

"We know very little about Susquehanna and should be prepared for a hard fight," said he. "If it proves easy we will be in all the better shape to meet California on Saturday."

Coach Mosse, who has been laid up for two weeks, expects to be out today, and will assist Capt. Thompson in handling the players.

WORLD'S RECORD BY MAJOR DELMAR

Trotted the Mile at Memphis in 2:01¼ Without the Aid of a Pacing Mate.

DAN PATCH FAILED IN TRIAL

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 24.—Major Delmar, owned by E. E. Smathers of New York and driven by Alta McDonald, established a new world's mark for unpaced trotters at the Memphis driving park today, when he circled the track in 2:01¼. The previous mark was 2:01¾, held jointly by Major Delmar and Lou Dillon.

Today's performance was cheered by a large crowd and horsemen generally were of the opinion that had weather conditions been more favorable the son of Delmar would have made even a lower mark. A cold wind was blowing up the home stretch, which materially lessened the speed of the horse in the final effort for the wire. Major Delmar stepped the first quarter in 31 seconds flat. The half was made in 1:00¾, and the three-quarters pole was passed in 1:30¼. In the run home Major Delmar perceptibly tired and passed the judges' stand in 2:01¼.

Dan Patch, the pacing champion, was sent against his own unpaced mark of 1:59¼, but he failed to equal this record. He made the mile in 2:00¼. Both Delmar and Patch were accompanied by runners on the side.

NO PAY FOR PLAYERS.

Owners of Cardinals Refuse to Settle and Players Are Worrying.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—Not one of the Cardinal players has so far received any pay for the last two weeks' playing of the National league season and the Brown series. This is the statement of two men who are in a position to know.

Most of the players are still in St. Louis waiting for their pay and those that have gone home went without their checks and with the promise that their money would be mailed to their home addresses. The contracts expired on October 15, the last day of the Brown series. According to the statement of the highest local baseball authority, if the salaries of these man are not paid up to the dollar by midnight Tuesday, 10 days from October 15, they are "defects" released from the ownership of the St. Louis club and National league.

COACHES PLEASED DESPITE DEFEAT

Yale Begins to Show Like a Team—Secret Practice at Princeton.

HARVARD HAS HARD WORK

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 24.—In spite of Saturday's defeat, the Yale coaches are pleased at the eleven's progress. Today's work maintained that satisfaction, for the varsity defense was excellent, the strongest scrub eleven being unable to keep up a ground-gaining attack. The varsity offense was good and the speed was unusual. The practice showed the eleven has begun to come as a team.

The game with West Point showed, however, that to play Yale's single style of football and roll up a safe score there must be absolute consistency in the attack and that a fumble or fluke is apt to be deadly. Failure to keep it up incessantly will militate against scoring.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 24.—(Special.)—Today's practice was conducted behind closed gates, and proved to be one of the longest of the season thus far. The work of the varsity was on the whole encouraging, showing marked improvement in several respects, especial attention being given to strengthening the defense which proved so weak in Saturday's game with Lehigh. The results in that struggle might have been very serious had Lehigh been even an ordinary strong team, and as it was, the fact the visitors made 10 first downs considerably alarmed the coaches. The defensive work is still ragged and streaked with success and failures which follow each other in such erratic succession that the coaches are fairly at their wits end what to do.

Improvement was shown at left guard, however, as Dillon is at last back in the game in Wallers' place. Great general relief is expressed at his return, as the part of the line that was formerly so weak will now present a solid front. The varsity offense was, as usual, fairly good, resulting in one touchdown. The ball was kept pretty well in the scrub territory.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 24.—(Special.)—Harvard began to buck up her offense for the Pennsylvania football game next Saturday in her practice today. A strong second eleven was organized to meet the varsity backs and to urge them to stronger efforts. The result was that the varsity had a hard time gaining with the ball. The practice was hard and snappy, but the result not especially encouraging. The second took the ball on downs twice and the varsity fumbled once on the one-yard line. Inside the 10-yard line the second eleven's defense was stubborn and the varsity had a hard time of it. Mills was the only regular back in the game today, and he did good work. The substitutes, Osborne and Lowendell, were poor. At end Randall played a good game, but Leary was useless. The latter did the punting and his efforts only average a trifle over 30 yards. Parker had a bad ankle, but will get into the Pennsylvania game; Parkinson has a cold and will be given a rest for a few days. Nichols banged his arm in falling on the ball today, and will be out of the game for a few days.

U. of P.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—The University of Pennsylvania football players, with nearly a bruise to show the memoreses of the Columbia game on Saturday, started work today behind closed gates for the crucial test of their season against Harvard next Saturday. The coaches laid the greatest stress on perfecting the new signals which have been adopted for the Harvard game and hurrying the play of the eleven. In the actual scrimmage practice the scrubs were given the ball most of the time and succeeded in scoring three touchdowns. The regulars worked on the defense most of the time and made little effort to score.

The red and blue will practice on Franklin field tomorrow and will leave for Boston in the evening to complete its practice at Auburndale. A big delegation of students will accompany the team.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The changes which were expected in the Cornell lineup today because of the poor showing in last Saturday's game came at the practice this afternoon. The team worked behind closed doors and no one was allowed to watch the drill.

Today's practice consisted of a long drill in running back punts. Later a fierce scrimmage was held with the scrub eleven in which the varsity is reported to have shown up not any too well. The practice was one of the hardest of the season and all of the men came off the field in an exhausted condition.

TO DECIDE TITLE

Allegheny Country and Oakmont Golf Teams Will Fight for Championship Today.

The golf teams of the Allegheny and Oakmont Country clubs will clash this afternoon for the team championship of Western Pennsylvania. The match is a play-off of a tie and will take place on the links of the Oakmont Country club, Hulton. Neither team has been beaten this year except by the other. In the spring Oakmont won at Sewickley, and this fall Allegheny won at Oakmont. The winner today captures the team championship for 1904 in the Western Pennsylvania Golf association.

The rivalry between these two foremost clubs between Philadelphia and Chicago is intense and a big gallery of friends of the opposing teams will follow in the wake of the players. Allegheny was the former champion, but the honor was wrested from them and is held by the Highland Golf club, which is the present Oakmont Country club. The match starts today at 2 o'clock, and the players and friends will go up on the Allegheny Valley train leaving Union station at 12:15.

ILLINOIS AND MARYLAND WILL GIVE BIG MAJORITIES

Democratic Claim That Parker Will Carry Doubtful States Causes a Hearty Laugh.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Illinois 100,000 and Maryland 35,000 majority for Roosevelt and Fairbanks, are the latest figures to be given out officially from the Republican national headquarters. The latter prediction was made by Senator Nathan B. Scott, who is chairman of the executive committee.

When Senator Scott read the Democratic committee's claim that Parker will carry all the doubtful states, he enjoyed a good, hearty laugh, and remarked that the Democratic managers "are living in a fool's paradise."

Senator Scott said that he had just received a letter from State Mining Inspector John I. Absalom of West Virginia, saying that the state would give Roosevelt 25,000 majority.

C. W. Swisher, Republican candidate for secretary of state of West Virginia, was at national headquarters today, and said that Rooseveit and Fairbanks would carry that state by a majority of 25,000.

Mr. Frederick Heller:

My Dear Sir—Your letter of the 11th inst. received, and the president thanks you for the compliment implied by your request. Very truly yours,
WILLIAM LOEB, JR.

John A. Haag, a Penn avenue hotel keeper, who was also named as one of the sponsors, wrote a long letter to the president in German, telling of the event which has made all Spring Hill happy. A motion to continue was made in the cases of Miles, Jackson and Oley, negroes, convicted of murder in the first degree for killing John Kluzor near Leetsdale.

The case of Reno Dardia, convicted of the murder of Thomas Sinclair, near Imperial, was submitted on the paper books without argument. Dardia killed Sinclair on December 16, 1901, stabbing him with a stiletto. He pleaded guilty and the court fixed the crime at first degree. James Francis Burke, his attorney, bases the appeal on the ground that the crime did not rise above manslaughter and that a few days before the trial Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb, offered to accept such a plea. Mr. Burke adds, however, that at the trial Assistant District Attorney W. D. Grimes, into whose charge the case had passed, warned Dardia that he saw the elements of a first degree case in it. A number of cases were argued yesterday.

A number of Pittsburgh lawyers were admitted to practice before the court. The list included Ralph L. Smith, William F. Stadtlander, Harry B. Wassell, William F. Petty, Robert B. Petty, Jr., Thomas J. Stevenson, John G. Frazer, Robert B. Elliott, John A. Metz, Malcolm J. McGiffin, Frank W. Stonecipher, S. Leo Rustander, P. H. McGuire, Marcus W. Stoner, George E. They were married on August 18, 1896. When they went to board at the Hotel Slover, Schnectady, N. Y., he introduced her to a boarder who sat at their table. He alleges that an intimacy resulted. When the wife was out of town John Driscoll, the "boarder," received an unsigned telegram requesting him to meet some one. He read the message, then crushed it and threw it in the waste basket. The hotel proprietor dug it out and gave it to Thomas. It is claimed Mrs. Thomas admitted having sent the message.

In the suit of Lida E. Harvey against Andrew M. Harvey, the wife testified they were married on October 17, 1900, and lived happily for six months, but that he deserted her about a year after the marriage.

The Knickerbocker Tourist Company of New York, has entered suit against Charles E. Pope for $1,025. The action is based on a contract of suretyship joined in by the defendant, it is alleged, by which the plaintiff loaned the Delaware & Northampton Railroad Company $105,000 on its note of March 6, 1904. It is alleged the note matured in September and as it was not paid, the defendant is liable for his share of the surety.

The plaintiff says he was absent from the county and paid the proper amount to the defendant, but that the latter failed to apply the money and the property was sold by the sheriff.

COFFEE WAS IT

People Slowly Learn the Facts.

"All my life I have been such a slave to coffee that the very aroma of it was enough to set my nerves quivering. I kept gradually losing my health, but I used to say 'nonsense' it don't hurt me. Slowly I was forced to admit the truth and the final result was that my whole nervous force was shattered.

"My heart became weak and uncertain in its action and that frightened me. Finally my physician told me, about a year ago, that I must stop drinking coffee or I could never expect to be well again.

"I was in despair for the very thought of the medicines I had tried so many times nauseated me. Of course I thought of Postum but could hardly bring myself to give up the coffee. Finally I concluded that I owed it to myself to give Postum a trial. So I got a package and carefully followed the directions, and what a delicious, nourishing, rich drink it was. Do you know I found it very easy to shift from the coffee to Postum and not mind the change at all. Almost immediately after I made the change I found myself better and as the days went by I kept on improving. My nerves grew sound and steady, I slept well and felt strong and well balanced all the time. Now I am completely cured, with the old nervousness and sickness all gone. In every way I am well once more." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

It pays to give up the drink that acts on some like a poison, for health is the greatest fortune one can have.

"There's a reason."

GIRLHOOD WOMANHOOD MOTHERHOOD

The first lesson that the young girl has of womanhood is usually a painful one. She learns to know what headache means, and backache, and sometimes is sadly borne down by this new experience of life.

All the pain and misery which young girls commonly experience at such a time may, in almost every instance, be entirely prevented or cured by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity. It tones up the general health, and cures headache, backache, nervousness and other consequences of womanly weakness or disease.

The anxious mother of the family oftentimes carries the whole burden of responsibility so far as the home medication of common ailments of the girls or boys are concerned. The cost of the doctor's visits is very often much too great. At such times the mother is invited to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for medical advice, which is given free. Correspondence is held strictly confidential.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, of Buffalo, N. Y., ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"Your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription,' has helped me greatly in time of suffering," writes Mrs. Minta Wright, of Edwards, Ind. "Last winter I was unable to do my work, was to be confined in February, and a lady in Illinois wrote and told me about your medicine. I used three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' and will say I had the easiest and quickest confinement I ever had. Had three children before, and would suffer from twenty-four to thirty-six hours before birth, but this time only two hours. Have a fine baby girl and she is the most healthy one of all. I am still using the 'Favorite Prescription' as a tonic."

LOOK FOR GREAT BUSINESS.

Coal Company Officials Expect a Heavy Run When Rivers Rise.

Coal company officials are looking for a great run of business when the rivers rise and are confident there will be boating water within the next two or three weeks. They are busy getting everything in shape for the expected rise and when it comes there will be but little preparation needed to put every boat out.

Lying in the harbor today are the Joe Williams, the Sprague, Tom Rees, Export, Valiant, Defender, Volunteer, Tornado and Cash. Each of these have from 12 to 15 barges loaded and are ready to start as soon as there is water enough to get over the sills at Davis island dam.

The Rose Hite, which was brought down the river from Brownsville the other day, will take the place of either the W. Woodward or the Columbia in the Morgantown trade as soon as she is ready for service.

Maj. W. L. Sibert made an inspection trip up the Monongahela river Saturday and found everything progressing nicely.

John K. Klein of the Mayflower returned from Cincinnati yesterday. He was down there looking over a boat by proposed purchasing and adding to the excursion trade in the fall.

OPERATIONS A FAD.

Public Gradually Awakens to the Fact.

The latest fad in operations has been the appendicitis fad; before that the fad for rectal operation (piles, etc) held away. Hundreds of patients were frightened and hurried into hospitals, operated upon and robbed of their last dollar, when the trouble was a simple case of hemorrhoids or piles only, easily cured at home with a simple remedy costing but 50 cents a box.

"I procured one 50-cent box of pyramid Pile Cure of my druggist, with the intention of buying a larger box later, but was happily surprised when I found that I was cured, and still have six pyramids left out of the first and only box. I have not had the least sign of piles since I used this one box, which has been about two months; previous to using Pyramid Pile Cure I had the worst kind of protruding and bleeding piles for over 31 years, and no one knows, except those who have had the piles, the pain and misery I suffered.

"I am a poor man, but have often said I would give a fortune, if I had it, to be cured of the piles, and now I have been cured for 50 cents. I should be very ungrateful if I did not thank you and give you every privilege to use my name and this letter, when I know there are so many who suffer as I did."—J. A. Weismiller, 1100 Bladensburg road, Washington, D. C.

The Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., publish a little book on the causes and cure of piles, which they will be glad to mail free to any applicant, and we advise all sufferers from this painful disease to write to them for it.

MANY NEW HIGH MARKS IN YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Stocks Withstood the Shock of Foreign News and Heavy Selling and Closed Higher—Westinghouse Electric Declined.

By JOHN O. SAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday fully demonstrated that it is still under the control of the bulls. It withstood the shock of the news of the Russian Baltic squadron firing upon a fleet of defenseless British fishermen and the consequent unsettlement of foreign markets in a manner that was surprising to say the least. Of course foreign markets had the advantage in time to give expression on the incident. English consols declined ⅝ per cent, American securities in the London market were lower, while wheat in the Liverpool market advanced sharply. Dispatches from continental capitals indicated a disposition to suspend judgement until some explanation was forthcoming from Russia, but the English people were represented to be wrought up over the matter to a greater degree than within the recollection of the present generation. It was expected that Wall street would feel the effects, and while the market opened lower all around, it was evident that strong support was forthcoming. About an hour after the opening London renewed its selling, and on the theory that this foreshadowed some unfavorable developments, the New York market again reacted slightly; but support made its appearance, and from that time to the close the market was buoyant.

Many stocks recorded new high prices for the year, and the trading was of enormous volume. For the first two hours the sales fell only slightly below 1,000,000 shares, and for the day were in excess of 1,900,000 shares. The activity was well distributed, but in a few of the specialties the dealings were unusually large. The former leaders of the market, including St. Paul, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, were conspicuously strong, and late in the afternoon, when Northern Securities advanced 4 per cent on the curb, closing 11⅛, a report gained currency that the litigation in connection with the case had been amicably settled out of court and that the announcement would be made today. Union Pacific advanced to 108½, the highest of the year, and Southern Pacific advanced to 86. St. Paul rose to 172½, and closed nearly a point higher for the day.

The Erie, Ontario & Western, Chesapeake & Ohio and Chicago & Great Western were all extremely active and all sold at the highest prices of the day.

There was considerable irregularity in the industrial group. Amalgamated Copper was strong and advanced to 68½, the highest of the year, on reports of an unprecendented demand from the Orient for copper. Sugar was also strong, advancing to 133½, and American Smelting advanced 3 per cent to 72½. On the other hand, Pressed Steel Car common broke to 36 and American Locomotive declined from 29 to 28. United States Steel issues were active within a comparatively narrow range. The common opened lower at 21, declined to 20⅝, recovered to 21¼, and closed unchanged for the day. The preferred stock after declining to 81 rallied to 82½, but reacted to 81½ at the close. Colorado Fuel & Iron was strong, and was the only iron and steel stock to close at a net gain for the day.

In the closing hours of the day the market displayed great buoyancy, but at the same time prices were irregular. All the western railroad stocks were strong and closed at net gains. The same was true of the Erie, Ontario & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio. Reading was heavy, and the Pennsylvania group and most of the industrials closed at net losses for the day. Heavy dealings in the Rock Island issues was a prominent feature and these stocks also closed higher. Manhattan and Metropolitan Street Railway closed lower, while Brooklyn Rapid Transit was a fraction higher.

The feature of the local stock market was the strength of the Brewing stocks and the heaviness of Westinghouse Electric. The former advanced to 26¼ for the common and to 46 for the preferred on investment buying and closed ½ to ⅝ higher for the day. Westinghouse Electric declined from 86¼ to 85⅜, and closed at a net loss of ¾. The heaviness was due to a report of an impending issue of bonds. This report was denied by an official of the company in New York, but traders looked upon the denial as technical. Local officials of the company apparently did not feel competent to discuss the report, and the final conclusion of traders was that some sort of financiering was in contemplation, but that the reported bond issue was premature. The Steel stocks were unusually quiet, Crucible common and United States Steel common closing a shade higher and the preferred stocks a fraction lower. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was heavy, declining 1 per cent to 71 on small transactions. National Fire Proofing common declined to 8⅝ and the preferred remained unchanged at 30½ to 30⅝. The rest of the market remained quiet and unchanged.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

Bank clearings increased $363,000 over the same day last year.

Brewing common led the stock market and advanced to 26¼.

Electric declined to 85¾ on reports of an impending bond issue.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred declined from 72 to 71 and closed at 71¼.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass declined to and closed offered at 129¾.

Steel stocks were dull and closed at small net changes.

IN WALL STREET.

Stock market displayed great strength in the face of bad foreign news.

Many issues advanced to the highest prices of the year.

Sales were enormous, footing up 1,855,200 shares stock and $8,230,000 bonds.

Amalagated Copper advanced to 68½, but did not hold the gain.

Union Pacific and Northern Securities also advanced to new high marks.

Steel stocks reacted and closed slightly lower for the day.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The report that the Westinghouse Electric Company contemplated an issue of $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 first mortgage bonds for the purpose of redeeming debentures now outstanding, taking up the short-term notes when they fall due, and retiring the first preferred stock, was generally discussed in local financial circles. A dispatch from New York quoted Treasurer Siemon as denying the report, but later in the day a Wall street news agency announced with some detail that the company would issue $15,000,000 20-year 5 per cent debentures, redeemable on call at 105 and interest, and to be issued from time to time as needed. No formal statement on the subject could be obtained from local officials of the company. In Pittsburgh the stock declined to and closed at 85¾. In New York it sold at the equivalent of 86⅜ to 85⅝, and closed at 86. The published report that the financial plans of the company contemplated the retirement of the first preferred stock at $100 a share, payable in 5 per cent first mortgage bonds, was on its face doubtful. At least some local holders of the first preferred stock stated that they would not consider such a proposition. In the first place the return on the investment would be no greater than at present, and in the second place the first preferred stock is looked upon as fully as good as a 5 per cent bond. There is only $4,000,000 of this first preferred stock, and it has prior ownership in the earnings and assets of the company. Since its issue millions of cash has been put into the plant, enhancing the value of the underlying property. The first preferred is also not restricted in the amount of dividends it may receive, sharing equally with the second preferred or assenting stock after 7 per cent is paid on the latter, in any increased dividends. At the present time it is receiving 10 per cent dividends on par.

Local steel and coal stocks were quieter than for some time past, and sold off slightly at the close of the market. The revival of activity in the Brewing stocks was apparently based upon investment buying. Brewing common and preferred held better than any other industrials throughout the period of depression, but so far they have not participated in the recovery in values.

Harbison-Walker Refractories common was in demand at 7 bid. There were no offerings of the stock.

On the sale of 25 shares of Pittsburgh Plate Glass the stock declined a dollar a share to 130, and later was offered at 12..¾. The deal is to be financed by J. P. Morgan & Co., and it is believed that the increase in traffic to the Erie will be such as to make dividends on Erie common assured.

Evidence is not lacking of increased public intesest in the markets. The crowds in brokers' offices are larger than at any previous time this year, and additional facilities are being provided to handle the business. Yesterday Morris, Brown & Company put in an additional Chicago-New York wire, making four in all, in order to meet increasing demands on the service.

London was credited with sales of 75,000 shares American stocks in New York yesterday. The late cables, however, expressed confidence that the North sea incident would be settled without serious consequences, and that foreign markets would recover.

After the close of the regular bank call German American Savings and Trust advanced to 157 bid for small lots.

Frederic Nichols, general manager of Canadian General Electric, and vice president of Dominion Iron and Steel Company, says that the period of depression in the iron and steel market of Canada has passed and that the outlook now is that all the Canadian plants will have all they can do to supply the Canadian market. The period of depression had been the worst that Canada had ever experienced, and now the outlook was perhaps better than it had ever been.

Chicago reports the probability of American Radiator common being placed on a 4 per cent divided basis before the annual meeting to be held in March.

A very conservative New York commission house makes this observation in the stock market: "The investing public seems to us to have been on the whole sellers. People who bought at low prices have in many cases taken profits. This is entirely natural, and the question for students of the stock market is, who has taken the stocks sold? So far as we can see, they have been mainly taken by rich men, who are rich because they have been on the whole successful, but who have often involved themselves too heavily. Whether this time will be a success or a failure for them remains to be seen. The movement has gone further in some cases and lasted longer than we believed possible."

M. Deville, president of the city aldermanic board of Paris, says that municipal ownership is a great success in that city and that as a result Paris has the best and cheapest system of intermural transit in Europe. The money which is being made will be used later to take Paris out of the hands of private gas companies.

The movement of mercantile and manufacturing lines in the west is toward increase. The country appears to be assured that the corn crop is as good a one as was ever gathered, and this has had a stimulating influence in the demand for all classes of goods. Cutters to lobbers reported a further gain in orders during the week, and the manufacturer has been given more courage by the increased call for goods. The situation today is said to be more promising than at any time for a year and a half. The interior merchants show a stronger disposition to stock up, and as a rule are paying cash for what they get.

Referring to the decline of 2 per cent in Pressed Steel Car common, a Wall street dispatch said: "It is intimated that as Pressed Steel Car dividends this year are paid out of last year's profit, and therefore those of next year should be paid out of this year, the common stock may not receive a dividend for at least the first quarter of next year. The next payment of 1 per cent will, it is understood, be paid on the common stock last, and there is a difference of opinion as to whether this should not insure two years' dividends on the common."

It is said that the report that Erie has control of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and Clover Leaf is true. The deal is to be financed by J. P. Morgan & Co., and it is believed that the increase in traffic to the Erie will be such as to make dividends on Erie common assured.

Today's event will be the publication of the quarterly report of United States Steel. The showing will not be made until after the close of the market, and its effect, if any, will not be observable until tomorrow.

GOOD SALE IN PRODUCE STREET

A. A. Frauenheim Buys Commission Houses at Eighteenth and Pike Streets for $35,000.

TWO $20,000 DEALS CLOSED

Activity in the produce district is increasing at a rate that gives promise of some important developments soon. Yesterday the Real Estate Trust Company sold for E. Garrick O'Bryan to A. A. Frauenheim the property at the southeast corner of Eighteenth and Pike streets, for $35,000 cash. The lot faces 58 feet in the former and 61 feet in the latter thoroughfare, making the rate of sale $642 a foot for the Eighteenth street frontage. The lot is improved with three brick buildings. The first floor of two of these is tenanted by Seward & Kurtz, produce merchants, and the J. D. O'Bryan Produce Company occupies the first floor of the other building. The upper floors are used for offices. The buildings bring in a total rental of about $5,000 yearly. Eighteenth street is now used as the main entrance to the produce yards and the buildings just sold are only a short distance from the four warehouses which John Gostiman built last year at Penn avenue and Eighteenth streets.

Four Average Sales Reported.

W. A. Hudson has bought from M. C. Kunkle 66x229 feet on the south side of Woodworth street, between Atlantic avenue and Aspen street, Twentieth ward, for $20,000. The property, which is improved with small buildings, is across the Pennsylvania railroad from the Alexander Bradley holdings and opposite the William T. Wallace property in Aspen street. It was rumored yesterday that the deal was made in the interest of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, but this could not be confirmed. The sale of the Sterrett frontage in Belleview, the sale of which was mentioned in The Gazette last week, prove to have been Joseph Hastings and T. Lee Clark of Allegheny. The exact price paid was $8,200, although the property, nearly eight acres, is assessed at $15,000. About four acres of the frontage is on a level plateau facing in Miller street, and the remainder, which is covered with forest trees, extends down over the hill near the Bellevue station on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad. The land will be platted next spring into 35 or 40-foot lots, which will be improved with houses costing from $2,500 to $5,000.

James F. Powell has bought from Lewis and Maurice Krieger an improved property of 28x 46 feet on the east side of Farragut street, near Jackson street, Nineteenth ward, for $11,000.

H. Keating has sold 72x130 feet at the northeast corner of Forty-third and Foster streets, Seventeenth ward, for $20,000. The lot is improved with four brick houses in front and six dwellings in the rear. From an investment standpoint it is a desirable investment, as the rentals amount to over 10 per cent of the purchase price. The buyer is a well-known foreigner of this city.

Banks Will Have Better Quarters.

Two banks are preparing to make extensive alterations to their buildings. Architect J. Lewis Beatty will take bids this week on the remodeling of the Fort Pitt National bank building, 235 Fourth avenue, which is expected to cost $40,000. Architect W. E. Bigelow is preparing plans for extensive alterations to the Peoples National Bank building at 409 Wood street.

The American Bridge Company is so far the lowest bidder on the steel freight shed to be built for the Wabash railroad at Fourth avenue and Redoubt alley. Plans were made by Engineers Boller & Hodge of New York, and the site for the building is cleared.

Architects Rutan & Russell have revised plans for the six-story brick building which Mrs. Harriet L. Rook will erect at 1331-1335 Fifth avenue. The building will be on the same burning plan and will house a printing plant.

John W. Straub & Co. will build a three-story business and apartment block at Franks-town and Braddock avenues, East End, from plans by Architect A. E. Linkenheimer.

Architects Clepper & Moffitt have plans for a four-story brick store and apartment building, to be erected in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, by A. D. Foster. Bids will be taken this week.

C. and H. Reed Brothers have the contract from Architects E. J. Carlisle & Co. for a $20,000 residence at Lexington and Sanders avenues for George S. Speidel of Braddock.

St. Louis Realty Outlook Not Good.

When compared with other large cities Pittsburgh always makes a favorable showing in real estate. For some months St. Louis has been heard of as a boom city in realty dealing, owing chiefly to the exposition. According to David P. Black, president of the Real Estate Trust Company, who has just returned from there, the boom is waning rapidly and the city is certain to share the same trouble that came to Buffalo, only in less measure. Rents are still high, but the influx of visitors will soon be over and there are already many signs of plenty of vacant houses and stores for next spring. Building has been very active in St. Louis all summer and architects who have visited the exposition report that St. Louis architects have had all they could do. The question now is whether, in the face of the decrease in population and the pressure of mortgage holders, realty values will remain where they are or go down, as was the case in Buffalo and to some extent in Chicago. The outlook just now is not encouraging and instead of all signs pointing to a broader market and stiffer prices, as is the case in Pittsburgh now, forecasters are finding plenty of material for gloomy predictions. It may be interesting to know that the big western town with all its enterprise has no business property worth over $6,500 a front foot, while Pittsburgh has one square that rates from $12,000 to $15,000 a front foot and $20,000-a-foot sales have been made here.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 10 to 15 points in sympathy with easier European and Brazilian cables. The lower European markets were attributed chiefly to uneasiness over the European political situation. Sales were reported of 32,500 bags, including October at 6.35c; November at 6.50@6.65c; December at 6.70@6.80c; March at 7.00@7.05c. May at 7.15@7.25c, July at 7.35c, and September at 7.45@7.55c. FLOUR FOLLOWS WHEAT IN THE LOCAL MARKET

Price Moves Up Ten Cents a Barrel and Butter Also Takes a Little Rise.

As was anticipated by flour dealers last week, flour moved up yesterday 10 cents a barrel. The firm tone of the wheat market was responsible for this, and it is possible that another increase may be noted before long. Butter also moved up a half cent yesterday, while every other line in the local markets held firm.

The advance in flour and butter have both been discounted by the local trade, as it has been looked for. Butter rose last week and it was stated at that time that a further raise could be looked for this week. Flour has been exceedingly firm and sales heavy for a couple of weeks. The advance in the price of wheat has held it at a high level and it was generally expected that it would go higher. The commodity is selling at $1 a barrel more than at this time a year ago. Butter is not thought to have reached its level yet, and flour may take another rise if the price of wheat continues to advance.

In produce lines there was not a single change note yesterday. It was the usual dull Monday along the street and dealers had neither good nor bad reports to give. Receipts of fruit and produce for the day were as follows: Apples, 10 cars, making 54; cabbage, 21 cars, making 53; celery, 1 car, making 4; cranberries, 2 cars, making 3; grapes, 16 cars, making 74; peaches, 6 cars, making 10; pears, 4 cars, making 20; potatoes, 3 cars, making 107; squash, 1 car; turnips, 1 car, making 5; miscellaneous, 12 cars, making 21.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

RECEIPTS.

Receipts of hay and grain in the Pittsburgh yards yesterday were as follows: Baltimore & Ohio, 16 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car corn, 1 car feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 5 cars oats, 10 cars hay; Pennsylvania lines, 20 cars hay, 34 cars oats, 2 cars feed, 9 cars corn, 1 car rye, 1 car straw, 1 car corn and oats.

The first new corn arrived yesterday, there being three carloads received at the several yards. There does not seem to be an active sale of it as yet. On the floor of the grain exchange it was offered at 57 cents, but only 51 was bid. The heavy receipts of oats had no effect on the quotations of that, and they still hold at the quotations of Saturday. Corn is still as scarce as before, but the movement of new corn, which is now beginning, is expected to go a long ways toward loosening up this market.

Cattle.

The market was strong on good cattle, but heavy receipts in Chicago and New York had an effect on the local sales. Good cattle found ready buyers, but trade was slow on commoner grades. The top price reached was 6 cents. In general the market was satisfactory. Quotations furnished were as follows: Choice, 1,400 to 1,500 lbs, $5 40@5 60; prime, 1,300 to 1,400 lbs, $5 10@5 30; good, 1,200 to 1,300 lbs, $4 80@5 00; tidy, 1,000 to 1,100 lbs, $4 15@4 35; fair, 900 to 1,100 lbs, $3 25@3 75; common, 700 to 900 lbs, $2 25@3 00; choice heifers, $3 50@4 00; common to good, $2 00@ 3 25; common to good fat cows, $1 50@3 50; common to good fat bulls, $2 00@3 50; good fresh cows and springers, $35 00@40 00; common to fair, $15 00@30 00.

Sheep and Lambs.

The receipts were 25 double decks and the market was fairly good. Sheep sold from $3 50 to $4 25, the last being the top price. Lambs sold from $5 50 to $5 80, the top figures. Eastern markets were reported unfavorable, which caused the local market to be slow and draggins at the following quotations: Prime wethers 90 to 100 lbs, $4 10@4 25; good mixed, 85 to 90 lbs, $3 75@4 00; fair mixed, 75 to 80 lbs, $3 25@3 60; common, $1 00@2 00; lambs, $3 50@5 75; veal calves, $7 00@7 50; heavy and thin, $3 50@4 00.

Hogs.

The receipts of hogs were about 14,000 head. The market seemed to follow cattle and sheep and dragged considerably. The sales ranged from $5 20 to the top, $5 70, according to grades. In spite of unfavorable reports from east and west, however, a fairly good day's business was done at the following quotations: Prime heavy hogs, $5 65@5 70; medium, $5 55 @5 60; heavy Yorkers, $5 50@5 55; light Yorkers, $5 30@5 40; pigs, $5 10@5 30; roughs, $4 00 @5 00; stags, $3 00@4 00.

A SWING AROUND THE THEATERS LAST NIGHT

IN A NUTSHELL

NIXON—A Delightful Young Artist in a Play That Might Be Improved.

AVENUE—Mr. Paulding's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" Is Extremely Well Done—Intelligent, Thoughtful Portrayal. The Curtain Raiser Is a Palatable Morsel by Way of Relish.

DUQUESNE—Charley Grapewin Has a Real Comedy, Clean and Straight, Well Played, With Musical Trimmings.

BIJOU—Same "M'Liss," Same Nellie McHenry.

GRAND—Vaudeville of High Order in Spots.

EMPIRE—Fearfully and Wonderfully Made Melodrama Played Well.

Nixon—Miss Cecilia Loftus.

It is eminently appropriate to use Miss Loftus' name in the title line. "The Serio-Comic Governess" is a personal triumph for this dainty little woman, who came to us by the way of the music halls, won our attention in modern drama, climbed the classic heights with Sothern and is now a star in her own right. I could only wish that Miss Loftus might have Mr. Zangwill's rather labyrinthian play untangled, both she and the play deserve it. Miss Loftus is artistic, with here and there a blaze of real genius shining radiantly through the industry of the clever actress. Mr. Zangwill's play has exceedingly clever moments. Its plot is not bad, its dialogue manifests very often to the dignity of epigram of the sparkling order, and some of the situations are touched with real dramatic novelty and force. There is need for the pruning knife. There is too much confusion and too much extraneous matter, long dialogues and irrelevant business for a play of such fine possibilities—and an actress of such fine talents. I was amazed at times at Miss Loftus' proof of her right to stardom. I was not one of those who enthused over her Ophelia, though I saw signs of ability in her more modern work with Sothern. Now, in this somewhat top-heavy play, she blossoms suddenly into real power, a power that would be ever so much more effective if only it were given better dramatic direction.

"The Serio-Comic Governess" is by no means a play built to perpetuate Miss Loftus' vaudeville gifts. The introduction of the imitations is deftly made, much more so than is the introduction of some other things. The story concerns the fortunes of Eileen O'Keefe, an Irish lassie, who leaves a convent school in the first act to earn money as a governess in order to support her mother and pay off her father's debts. She has an Irish lover who goes off to the war, leaving his image in the colleen's heart as everything that is brave and true and strong. Eileen, in order to add to her income, accepts the suggestion of a strolling theatrical manager, and when she loses her first position as governess, through the evil suspicion of a vulgar but rich mother that she is fishing for the son of the house, goes on the music hall stage. Her soldier lover comes home and reveals himself as a cheap, ogling chap, through his attentions to the music hall artist, before he realizes that she is his old sweetheart, Eileen.

The closing act sees the young son of her former employer finding favor in Eileen's eyes, and the curtain falls upon a few minutes of very fine and deft playwriting as well as delightful play acting. As Eileen Miss Loftus convinces from first to last. She is better in the serious scenes. Her girlishness in the first act, however, is admirable, suggesting more than once, both in voice and manner, the Julia Marlowe of a dozen years ago. I, for one, would like to see Miss Loftus play Rosalind, and, perhaps, after while, Juliet. She has grown in all the elements of her art. There is a surer poise, a readier dramatic intuition and a finer play of artistic expression than we have been wont to see in this little woman who so many of us refused at first to accept seriously outside of vaudeville. I can only repeat, I wish the really excellent material in Mr. Zangwill's play could be whipped into better shape. We need plays that possess that sort of strong structure and lines. We certainly need to see just how fine Miss Loftus might be in a straightened out play.

The support of the star is almost uniformly excellent. Our local stage has rarely seen a better piece of character work than the parvenu Mrs. Maper, done by Eva Vincent. It is clear cut, humorous and never overdone at any point. Mr. H. Reeves Smith is also a capital actor of the English type. He is quiet in his methods but effective all the time. Miss Julia Dean as Marcelle and Mr. Herbert Standing as a provincial theatrical manager also contribute to a cast of worth, as does also Mr. George Spencer, willie Harold and Nesta De Becker de juvenile roles with refreshing naturalness.

But "The Serio-Comic Governess" is distinctly the triumphant blossoming of Miss Cecilia Loftus from vaudeville bud to dramatic flower. For this we can even thank "The Serio-Comic Governess." The play was well put forward, though a failing picture from the walls of a library scene came near ending temporarily the career of the leading man last night.

CHARLES M. BREGG.

Avenue—Interesting Double Bill.

Because it comes first in time the little curtain raiser that members of the Avenue stock company present may be mentioned first in order by way of comment on a performance that, as a whole, has very many admirable points of excellence. The curtain raiser, a little playlet, the authorship of which is credited to Mr. Algernon Tassin, was acted originally by Jameson Lee Finney. It is exceedingly clever and might appropriately be called "The Serio-Comic Dressmaker," since we have a similar title in town this week. A "gentleman thief" makes his way to the suite occupied by some wealthy New Yorkers in a leading hotel for the purpose of robbery. A young designer in a dressmaker's establishment has preceded him for the purpose of copying the design of a gown. They meet and the thief suspects the woman of being an associate in crime and proceeds to moralize and then to sentimentalize. He saves the young woman from detection at the risk of his own safety and they go away together, the audience being left under the impression that a sudden romance has been developed under these odd circumstances. This demand upon common sense is a serious handicap to the playlet, but for all that it is an exceedingly clever and entertaining little dramatic morsel. Mr. Courtenay and Miss Emma Dunn are largely the factors in this result. They give a naturalness and charm to the situation that is artistic and convincing in the highest degree.

In "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," Mr. Frederick Paulding displays remarkable ability under very trying circumstances. The play made from the Stevenson story, and which Mr. Richard Mansfield gave great vogue, is a very difficult piece of dramatic literature. It is awkward in construction and exceedingly melodramatic in spirit and tone, with anti-climaxes strewn thickly through the four acts. These defects, however, are never noticed by an audience if the title characters are handled with force. In Mr. Paulding's case it is only fair to say that he surmounts the difficulties and gives a really fine character study. The differentiation in psychology is the gist of the drama. To convince by the actor's playing of the theory of a dual character is the burden put upon the player. Not an easy one by any means. Mr. Paulding's difficulty is somewhat increased by the too daring use of the spot lights at the Avenue, but he even overcomes this by facial contortions in the one case and clever expression in the other. His conception of the role is guided by great intelligence. In passing from one character to the other he is careful not to give too great an emphasis to the merely visual impression, and yet his make-up as Hyde is one of the finest things seen in a long time. The development along psychological lines is guarded well, though at the best it is impossible to prevent the extremest touch of melodrama. Mr. Mansfield's impersonation was largely in the shadow. Mr. Paulding gives a more frightfully realistic performance with the ever present spot-light glaring full upon him, an achievement in acting superior to Mr. Mansfield's. Mr. Paulding was most enthusiastically received last evening, and he deserved it. His curtain speech was a model of good sense.

The support is admirable, including Mr. McVay, Mr. Wyngate, Mr. McIrose, Miss Margaret Dills, Miss Gale and Mr. Dailey, with Mr. Hickman and Mr. Harris in small parts. The Irish comedy of Miss Gale and Mr. Dailey is a relief from the strain of the story, but it is a little overplayed for its environments.

Duquesne—"Awakening of Mr. Pipp."

Our old and serio-humorous friend, Charley Grapewin, is back in town and is reviving the morals of Mr. Pipp at the Duquesne thater, where a good audience gave him greeting last night. Here is good clean comedy with musical trimmings and without the usual lingerie expose. Mr. Grapewin is really a fine actor and his Mr. Pipp is something more than a musical comedy characterization. The entertainment has been considerably brightened since its last visit and besides a good chorus and usually satisfying ensemble efforts, Miss Anna Chance lends the potency of her pleasing presence. The Duquesne needs a rest from frivolity. Mr. Pipp is a happy half way house that is more entertaining if not so noisy.

Grand—Refined Vaudeville.

Pewitt's "mysterious face," the vaudeville novelty which has amused New Yorkers for months, has been imported to Pittsburgh and made a hit yesterday when it was introduced to the patrons of the Grand. The "face" is a very seasonable attraction. It is about the size of a prize squash at a Butler county fair and reproduces every expression of anger, fear, surprise, admiration and love. It appears as if a giant had been decapitated and retained all the elements of life in his massive head. People like the "face" for its genuine novelty, although it cannot be said to be as much of an attraction in Pittsburgh as in Gotham. This is because Gotham's audiences are more provincial than those in Pittsburgh. The best thing on the Grand's program is Cressy and Dayne's little comedy sketch, "The Village Lawyer." Rural comedy, pathos and bright and witty lines abound in their little act. Mr. Cressy has a masterpiece of Yankee makeup and is inimitable in his portrayal of the Yankee backwoodsman. Henry Lee has some new features in his imitations of great men and has added Judge Parker and the emperor of Japan to his repertoire. His Roosevelt is burlesqued for campaign purposes and is doubtless overdrawn. Behind all of Roosevelt's jingoism and strenuousness there is a calm dignity and sedate repose. His Pope Leo, Gen. Grant and Gen. Lee are certainly "speaking likenesses." A. O. Duncan, the "ventriloqual comedian," has nothing that is distinctly new. Signor Germinal from the Grand opera house in Paris sings with a baritone voice of uncommon strength and sweetness, and Cliff Gordon, billed as the "German politican," makes a distinctive hit. The other acts are in keeping with the Grand's standard, and in this respect no greater praise could be given.

Empire—"Girl of the Streets."

Two murders, a suicide, a kidnaping, an innocent man snatched from the gallows, six miraculous escapes from death and the villain foiled five times in an act, with four acts to go, are a few of the features of the "Girl of the Streets," which opened to a good-sized house at the Empire last night. The performance is billed as "a sensational melodrama" and it certainly is. However, the cast performed nobly under the burden. Lillian Mortimer as Kit waded through the tragedies with skill, as did Gilbert Faust as Bob Davis, the righter of all wrongs. E. J. LeSaint as the villain was good, but John Morrisey as William Meadows, a young man with a perpetual jag, who is the catspaw for the villain, plunged about the stage in agony in portraying a style of intoxication that was novel. It would be interesting to know what his favorite drinks are. However, he finally redeemed his work by allowing himself to be murdered. F. Ward Marlon as Zacariah Perkins, a rural character, gave an impersonation that was truly excellent, while Baby Myrtle as Baby Tot gave a creditable performance for one of her years.

Bijou—Nellie McHenry in "M'Liss."

Bret Harte's memory will never die while "The Luck of Roaring Camp" remains in story books and "M'Liss" continues to be served for the entertainment of patrons of the stage. "M'Liss" became a dramatic classic when death claimed the author. Harte's familiar type of the child of the Sierras has disappeared, and Harte's pen will have no successor in depicting those characters of the argonaut's camps. When Nellie McHenry plays "M'Liss" for the last time the stage will suffer a distinct loss. She seems to have seen the rough camps in the Rockies as the lamented Bret Harte saw them, and her mountain waif stands out above the ordinary characters in the better class of melodrama. At the Bijou this week, where big crowds are greeting Miss McHenry's return in her oft-repeated role, the patrons saw no novelty. It is true that the demands of modern melodrama are responsible for the introduction of features which Bret Harte never surmised, but these are not allowed to obtrude themselves to a degree that interferes with the little actress' art. The play is well mounted and "Smith's pecker" looks wonderfully realistic. Miss McHenry has good support.

Academy—Rose Hill English Folly Co.

The Rose Hill English Folly company presented a lively and highly entertaining show at the two performances yesterday afternoon and last night, upholding its reputation for the best in the burlesque line.

Those of last night's audience who were looking for spice had it purveyed to them in plenty, along with a vaudeville bill of real merit. Rich special scenery and bright costumes help make the musical members interesting, and the comedians are good funmakers. Miss Blanche Newcomb made the hit of the show in her Buster Brown specialty and was encored repeatedly. Kathryn Rowe Palmer did well in a dancing turn, but she appeared to best advantage in a Sis Hopkins makeup in the burlesque, which was excruciatingly funny. Other specialities were a good acrobatic act by Pongo and Lee, a comedy sketch by John Cain and Harry Evans, a musical sketch by Van Brothers, and songs by the Bison City Quartet. Two burlesques "Knights of the Red Garter," and "Senator for an Hour," open and close the performance.

"A Little of Everything."

"A Little of Everything," which comes to the Nixon theater next Monday evening for a week's engagement, presents a notable aggregation of novelties of which the Offenbach Review, the musical hit of Paris, last season, consisting of selections of complete scenes from eight of Offenbach's most popular operas, is one of them. The burlesque on the "Florodora" sextet and the burlesque of "Camille," are the leading features.

Miss Fay Templeton and Peter Dailey are the leading people in a big, strong cast.

West Side Belt Has Been Formally Transferred to the Wabash Road

The formal transfer of the West Side Belt Railroad Company and the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad & Coal Company over to the Wabash interests, took place yesterday afternoon. A stockholders meeting was held in the office of President Charles Donnelly, Farmers Bank building, where the transfer was made. This was followed by an election of directors and officers for the newly acquired property. The officers for the West Side Belt are now as follows: President, Joseph Ramsey, Jr.; vice president, J. W. Patterson; treasurer, H. B. Henson; assistant treasurer and secretary, W. G. Rock; traffic manager, Col. W. D. Holliday. The same officers were elected for the Pittsburgh-Terminal Railroad & Coal Company. The directors for the West Side Belt are George J. Gould, Edwin Gould, E. T. Jeffery, Joseph Ramsey, Jr., J. W. Patterson, Charles Donnelly, F. M. Osborne, T. N. Barnsdall, F. F. Nicols, W. D. Holliday and J. T. Walsh. The following directors retired: A. W. Osborne, T. H. Given, Joshua Rhodes, J. D. Callery, M. K. McMullin, J. G. Patterson and S. H. Robbins. For the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad & Coal Company the directors are George J. Gould, Edwin Gould, E. T. Jeffery, Joseph Ramsey, Jr., J. W. Patterson, Charles Donnelly, F. F. Nicols, T. N. Barnsdall, William Flinn, W. D. Holliday, J. T. Walsh and W. G. Rock. The retiring directors are T. H. Given, M. K. McMullin, J. D. Callery, J. G. Patterson, A. W. Osborne, S. H. Robbins, J. G. Gilchrist and Joshua Rhodes.

Yesterday's election turns the management of the big Allegheny county coal company over to the Wabash interests with Gould men occupying the responsible executive positions. At the same time there have been kept on the directorate representatives of the former management of the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad & Coal Company, although the Gould interests have a majority of the directors. What will be done in regard to operating the valuable coal properties which the Wabash has secured remains as yet unannounced. It has been rumored that the mines would be leased to the Pittsburgh Coal Company, that they would be turned over to the Consolidated Coal Company, a Gould concern, and that they would be continued under the present management. Just when one of these plans will be followed remains unsettled.

Freight Line Project Abandoned.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad has abandoned plans for a low freight line from Fawyers to Harpers Ferry, on the main line. The surveyors have been called in. The inability to get certain rights of way is said to be the cause of the official postponing plans for the projected new route.

Railroad Notes.

The Pittsburgh Railway club will give another of its informal dinners at the Hotel Henry next Friday.

R. E. McCarty, division superintendent of the Panhandle, with a number of other officials, left yesterday on a track inspection of the lines between Pittsburgh and Columbus.

Two additional freight crews of 72 men were put into service on the middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday. By degrees all the men suspended last spring are being taken back.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

The Thanksgiving and Election number is on sale to-day. A magazine that goes into half a million homes, and is welcome in every one. Entertaining, companionable, helpful to all its readers—men, women and children—between two and three million of them—who regard this periodical as their ideal. In contents, illustrations and execution the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION stands first and highest in their estimation.

The November Number

is exceptionally timely in its articles and artistic in its illustrations. You will be glad of a copy—indeed, must have one. There are many things in it for you.

Thoughtful readers will find in this number not only an absorbingly interesting story of the spectacular career of Sully, "King of Cotton," but a most startling revelation of the planters' "Crime Against the Cotton-Seed." But for Sully's marvelous warning the cotton supply of the world might have deteriorated more than it actually did—and may yet if the lesson passes unheeded.

Busy housekeepers, upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility for preparing the great feast of the year, will give joyful welcome to the ten prize recipes for old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinners. From these recipes, many of them handed down through generations of New England or Southern families, many a famous dinner of olden times, toothsome and abundant, may be duplicated.

"In Sod-House Land" is a sympathetic picture of the shaggy sod house as it used to stand "on the edge of things" in the rich-grassed leagues of the vast, dull-toned, clear-skied prairie.

Old Ireland's strangest shrine, "Saint Patrick's Purgatory," a quaint account of which has been written by Seumas MacManus, will delight all lovers and followers of Saint Patrick.

Our short stories are capital. "The Rising Up of Ezzie Wygelia"—"when she did rise up she just rose up all over"—is a story that will do every one good to read. And "The Girl and the Game" tells in a charming way how "the girl" married the man she "could beat 3-up" at golf.

The second instalment of "The King of Diamonds," a tale by Louis Tracy, author of "The Wings of the Morning," depicts the troubles of a boy made fabulously rich by a meteorite of diamonds. It is a story of such dramatic interest as to make it hard to wait for succeeding chapters.

Election articles and pictures are of course a marked feature of this number, one of the most stirring of which is an account of "Election-Night in a Newspaper Office." "An Election-Day Dinner" is an odd recipe well worked out.

For college girls, in this period of hazing and secret-society initiation, extracts from Martha Cobb Sanford's "Memory-Book" will be a bonanza. Richly illustrated with scenes of college pranks.

Our regular departments, as always, full of good features. Mrs. Sangster's Thanksgiving talk will help to find new causes for thanksgiving; "Fads and Frills of Fashion" treats of "adjustable things," and is particularly for the girl who has to depend upon her own ingenuity; "Children's Fashions;" "Photo Contest;" "Home Training of Children"—practical doings of the mothers themselves; while the "Children's Pages," under the conduct of Aunt Janet, will be hailed as joyfully as ever by the youngsters.
